Why Farmers Laugh. A Touch of Bolshevism. Henry Ford and Moses. Inmortal? For How Long?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TEARS and laughter afford relief. Loud laughter, violent weeping cause the mind to rest, and bring temporary peace.

There will be farm-relief laughter in news that railroads have consented to lower freight rates on wheat flour from the Middle West to the Atlantic.

THE notion that farmers will get more for their wheat when flour mills pay lower freight bills will make the saddest farmer laugh.

Relief for flour manufacturers' is welcome. They are having a hard time, with chain stores regulating their profits.

But charging them 10 cents less a barrel for shipping flour will not cause them to give farmers 2 cents a bushel more for wheat.

RELIEF for farmers and for many others will come from generally increased prosperity, and especially from sharing national wealth more widely.

American farmers once sold corn for less than the amount of the tariff now proposed.

IT IS certainly Bolshevism, almost anarchy to suggest it. But government ownership and exploitation of natural monopolies will eventually come, no matter how many newspapers the power gentlemen may buy.

WISE finance will tell you, "The government does not know how to run business. Only private enterprise can do that well." What about Canada? Sir George Trevelyan, member of the British Parliament, gives us food for meditation in these statements:

A few years ago Canada had three railroads, privately owned, on which gigantic sums of public and private capital had been spent. They paid no profit, and "there was a great likelihood that they would have to close down."

TREVELYAN says, "Canada took over those railroads, nationalized them, and in a couple of years they were beginning to pay and have paid ever since. They are being run successfully, and there is not a Tory in Canada who would dream of handing them back to private enterprise."

BUSINESS men that buy power in America are interested in another part of Trevelyan's statement:

"In Toronto there is a great electrical undertaking which gets its power from the British half of the Niagara Falls.

"That undertaking belongs to the State of Ontario and is a nationalized concern. The other half of the Niagara Falls works is a private enterprise on the American side and pays good dividends to those who have capital in it."

NOW comes the point for those who are familiar with Canada's prosperity and know that cheap power is the basis of industrial success.

"The interesting thing is that on the Ontario side, the nationalized undertaking pays a regular and large sum in profits to the community.

"Not only so, but it gives light and power to the people of Ontario at NOT LESS THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE PRICE THAT THE PRIVATE ENTERPRISE CHARGES FOR LIGHT AND POWER IN AMERICA."

POWER trust editors will rise and say that Trevelyan does not know what he is talking about. Perhaps he does not, perhaps he does. Perhaps our government lacks the ability and honesty that enable Canada's government to run railroads and power plants successfully and profitably.

IN ANY case, it is certain that we are far from any such nationalization and low prices here.

But the fact that it is feasible is worth keeping in the back of your mind.

Power is as important to industry as light and air, as important to prosperity as salt to the human body.

Once France was cursed with "La Gabelle," a tax on salt that was wiped out by the revolution. And once many European kings laid a tax on doors and windows. People had to pay for sun and air.

We are amazed at that. We may be amazed some day that private enterprise should ever have been allowed to tax the power running over the rocky edge of Niagara.

HENRY FORD says there will be no more hospitals when people learn how to eat. He asks clergymen to make proper eating part of their religious teaching.

There will always be illness, for men will always die, for which thank Heaven. Man is a foolish thing and his life is made bearable by its brevity.

BUT all clergymen might well preach wise eating. That was done more than three thousand years ago by Moses, "learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and mighty in words and deeds."

He put his dietary ideas into religious law, backed by Jehovah Himself. His laws might have been different, had he possessed ice, or electric refrigeration, to make lobsters and oysters safe.

BUT there is no doubt that attention to food laws enabled Moses to do for the physical welfare of his people, more than any other religious leader.

Mohammed cut down intemperance, and with one long annual fast, gave Mohammedan stomachs a chance to rest. But he knew little about wise eating. His objections to pork, with its trichinosis, was probably borrowed from Moses. It is said that a Jew wrote the Koran,

ARREST NEAR IN HARVARD BOY'S DEATH

WINDSOR, Conn., May 11.—(INS.)—"We expect to make an arrest very soon."

This cryptic disclosure, made to International News Service early today, followed a three-hour conference between detectives, attempting to solve the mysterious slaying of Walter Treadway Huntington, and members and friends of the youthful Harvard student's family.

An out-and-out admission that Huntington's death wound was not self-inflicted, as had been intimated by County Detective Edward J. Hickey, was made after the conference.

From the evidence now before the investigators, it is believed that young Huntington, while keeping a love tryst with a young woman, was beaten, in a desperate struggle with a male assistant who terminated the fight by firing a .32 caliber pistol at Huntington at short range.

4 DEAD, 20 HURT IN HOTEL FIRE

AMARILLO, Tex., May 11.—(AP.)—Four men were killed, a woman was believed fatally injured, and more than a score of guests were hurt in a fire that destroyed the Tourist Hotel here today.

Three bodies, burned beyond recognition, were discovered by firemen on the third floor of the structure. A man was killed when he jumped from the same floor. None of the dead were identified immediately.

Mrs. Birdie Rhodes, the landlady, also jumped from a floor of the hotel and was perhaps fatally injured.

The man killed in the jump from the third floor was thought to have been a Mr. Atchinson, of Shamrock, Tex.

The hotel register was saved, and it was believed the dead would be identified shortly.

The hotel was formerly known as the Elmhirst Hotel, and was one of the oldest structures in Amarillo.

The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Los Angeles Home After 30-Hour Trip

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., May 11.—(AP.)—The Navy's giant dirigible Los Angeles returned here at 10 o'clock last night, eastern standard time, after a naval air cruise of more than 30 hours.

Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley, who recently assumed charge of the ship, was in command during the flight. The dirigible cruised over New York State as far north as Lake Erie and returned over Pennsylvania. Wiley reported an uneventful trip.

Dr. Butler Home After Operation

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, returned to his home on Morningside drive yesterday, from the Presbyterian Hospital, where he had undergone an operation for gall stones. Dr. Butler was removed to the hospital from his home about four weeks ago. He is reported fully recovered.

PRINCE WINS MRS. COREY IN 22 YEARS

PARIS, May 11.—The French government's expulsion order against Prince Louis De Bourbon, cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, who is engaged to marry Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey early in June at San Reno, Italy, probably will be lifted when the couple begins their honeymoon, it was learned today from the lawyer representing Mrs. Corey in Paris.

The engagement of Mrs. Corey, former American musical comedy star and former wife of William Ellis Corey, of New York and Pittsburgh, to the Spanish prince, was officially confirmed yesterday.

If the French government lifts the expulsion order the prince and his bride will live at Mrs. Corey's chateau just outside this city. It is understood that Mrs. Corey's former husband, who is a multimillionaire steel manufacturer and former head of the United States Steel Corporation, has made an additional financial settlement to aid his ex-wife in arranging the forthcoming marriage.

SUITOR 22 YEARS

Love's young dream, awakened 22 years ago in the breast of the prince, when he first saw Mrs. Corey.

Mrs. Corey herself announced yesterday at a social gathering in a Paris hotel that she and the prince would be married at San Remo on June 1.

To make the marriage possible she has embraced the Catholic faith, an obstacle which remained in the way of union between them for a long time, since the Infanta Eulalia, the prince's mother, refused to permit her son to wed one not of the faith.

The infanta herself was present as the announcement was made. She expressed her "unbounded admiration" for Mrs. Corey and remarked:

"I hope nothing further happens to cause any more difficulty."

"I wish to remove all doubt and uncertainity in this matter."

Vare Called Too Ill To Appear in Senate

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—(AP.)—Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, chief physician of Senator-elect William S. Vare, said last night that he would advise against his patient appearing before the bar of the Senate, should such a question arise. Mr. Vare slowly is recovering at his home in Atlantic City from a paralytic stroke.

Francis Shunk Brown, counsel for Vare, said he would telegraph Senator Robinson, chairman of the special committee, denying reports quoting him as having stated that his client was able to go to Washington.

Dean Pound May Aid Hoover Law Survey

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP.)—Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard Law School, had a rather lengthy conference yesterday with President Hoover at the White House. While no official information was forthcoming, it was understood that the law enforcement commission was the chief subject of the conversation.

The visit of Dean Pound led to conjecture as to whether he would be included in the personnel of the commission which the President is expected to announce before the end of this month.

MARINES LAND IN CANTON

CANTON, China, May 11.—(AP.)—Twenty American Marines today guarded the American consulate in Shameen, foreign concession quarter of Canton. The men were landed from the United States warship Tulsa yesterday when a Cantonese bombardment of four rebel ships in the harbor threatened danger to those ashore.

British guards also were landed. A checkup revealed that only a few persons were killed when machine gun bullets from Honam Island and shells from the Macao Island batteries peppered part of the concession yesterday. Residences and business houses, however, for awhile were hard hit by the fire.

Several dud aerial bombs from planes which flew over the four revolting ships narrowly missed foreign property, including installations of the Standard Oil Company and the Texas Company.

Two Cantonese army aviators, suspected of Kwangsi sympathies, were executed today. They were accused of deliberately forcing their planes into a ground collision yesterday when ordered to take the air to bomb the disaffected Cantonese naval units which revolted Thursday.

Seized Car Stolen, Dry Sleuth Charges

When prohibition agents arrested Felix Richie on the Bloomfield Bridge yesterday they say they seized three quarts of liquor in the auto Richie was driving, and one of the arresting agents alleged he recognized it as a car stolen from a friend in McKean County.

SETTLE DENIES LANDING

Unperturbed by reports from New Brunswick disputing his claim to a new world's record for free ballooning, Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, Navy balloon pilot, who apparently has won first honors in last Saturday's national elimination races, arrived here from Prince Edward Island with only one thing on his mind—Mrs. Settle!

The story of two New Brunswick farmers who say they saw the Navy balloon land on a farm was dismissed with a quiet shrug and a word—"mistake." Rain, storms, wind, snow and the possibility of being swept out to sea in a flimsy wicker basket—all were dismissed lightly for the nonce while the Navy's hope in the Gordon Bennett International event next fall at St. Louis swept his comely wife to him in fond embrace.

"Fay, dear!" was his fervent greeting. "I'm so happy to be with you again."

"You said it, darling—but oh, you've lost weight and how sunburned you are!"

NO TROUBLE, HE SAYS

Her reply was smothered. A few gurgling sounds and then the world's champion free balloon pilot extended his hand around his wife for greetings from friends.

"It was a jolly trip," he related. "We had wonderful balloon

Carnegie Institute's $50,000 Bill Vetoed

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(AP.)—Gov. Fisher yesterday vetoed a bill appropriating $50,000 to the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh for the exhibition and distribution of biological and geological collections in the public schools.

The Philadelphia museums, the Chief Executive declared, already are doing this work, and for Carnegie to engage in it would only be a duplication.

$50 Given Officer Who Killed Youth In Rum Chase

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS.) Policeman Clyde O. Rouse, who was recently applauded in the House for shooting and killing 21-year-old Ottmer Fleming while pursuing Fleming's automobile in a liquor chase, was given a check for $50 today by the united committee for law enforcement, which is headed by Clinton N. Howard, prohibition reformer.

Rouse was released under heavy bond and later freed in the killing. Howard said the $50 was to reimburse the officer for the bond.

CITY FIGHTS TAXI CURB RENTS

While one branch of the city government prepared today to combat the plan of the Yellow and Green Cab Companies, exposed by the Sun-Telegraph, to increase taxi rates, another got ready to attack the system under which the streets are privately rented, with no compensation to the city, to the taxi companies for cab stations.

Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor in charge of public utilities litigation, said he was ready for the Public Service Commission's hearing on the city's complaint against the higher tariffs. Thanks to the information furnished by the Sun-Telegraph, Lang managed to get the protest filed within 30 days after the taxi companies had given notice of their intention to increase fares.

CITY HOLDS ADVANTAGE

This gives the city a great advantage in the contest. The burden of proof that the new rates are fair and reasonable rests on the companies. They will be required to show their hand first. If, in the opinion of the city solicitor, the companies fail to make out a case, the city need not even answer.

It is generally assumed the commission will order an exhaustive investigation of the companies' investment, expenses, earnings and methods.

"HIGH-POWER" COUNSEL

The Green Cab Company will have as counsel Charles K. Robinson, who preceded Lang as specialist on public utilities litigation in the city law department. The Yellow Cab Company will be represented by United States Senator David A. Reed's law firm, Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay.

Rental of the city streets to the taxicab companies by private property owners came to the fore with announcement by Director of Public Safety James M. Clark that he had completed his investigation of the situation and was ready to report his findings to Mayor Charles H. Kline.

HILL TO TWIRL AGAINST PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Over the .500 mark for the first time this year, the Pirates today realized that a further spurt might put them right up with the leaders. The Bushwhackers have won five of the seven games slated on the seaboard invasion, and they were confident as they prepared to meet the Quakers in the second and last contest of the present series.

Manager Bush plans to use Carmen Hill on the mound today. Bush called on four pitchers yesterday in a successful effort to win an uphill game from the Phillies.

The Buccos will play an exhibition game at Reading Sunday and on Monday they are slated to open a three-game series in Brooklyn.

27 MEN FREED IN MILK STRIKE RIOTING HERE

Arrested after attempting to prevent non-striking drivers of the Liberty Dairy Company, Forbes street and Sixth avenue, from making milk deliveries early today, 27 striking drivers and bottlers, including a union representative, were discharged in Central Police Court today by Magistrate Thomas Jones after organizers promised to prevent further violence. One driver was so severely beaten by strike sympathizers that hospital treatment was necessary.

Dairy company officials were completing plans to make milk deliveries on time tomorrow morning, recruiting new drivers and calling additional help from their other plants.

Today's outbreak resulted from a strike called yesterday morning by the newly-organized Milk Wagon Drivers and Inside Employes Union. Forty-five employes of the bottling department walked out yesterday. Company officials say the men were discharged and paid off, but the men claim they went on strike. Many of the drivers are members of the same union and a strike call was issued yesterday by the union heads. This caused half of the 75 drivers to walk out this morning.

The injured driver was taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment after receiving a beating while attempting to make deliveries in Washington street. Other drivers were reported molested by P. P. Carney, superintendent of the company. He reported that while deliveries in the residential districts were made several hours late, hospitals and other institutions received their supplies on time. Police were guarding all streets in the vicinity of the plant today.

The union official arrested was Henry G. Burger, 37, of Cleveland, general representative of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers of America, which organization holds the charter for the milk company employes.

FILM EXTRA TRIES SUICIDE WHEN GILBERT, IDOL, WEDS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—(INS).—Marie Stanley, 18, film extra, was recovering today from the effects of gas inhaled in an effort to end her life when she learned of the marriage of her idol, John Gilbert.

Overcome, she was found in her bungalow home with a photograph of the lover of her dreams clutched to her breast.

"Without hope, there is no use in life," read a note found on a table. "Perhaps a cat can look at a king and forget. I can't forget. I must wish them a long and happy married life. Fate is hard, but it can't be helped."

Meanwhile, Gilbert and Ina Claire, musical comedy actress, honeymooning at Gilbert's Beverly Hills home, refused to discuss possible heartaches on the part of Greta Garbo and Gene Markey.

"We are happy," was all Gilbert would say, "and we hope everyone else is happy. We are on our honeymoon and I don't think it is a proper time to discuss past romances."

Miss Garbo, to whom Gilbert was reported engaged several times in the past, was understood to be on location on a yacht off Catalina Island. Her friends, however, said her affection for Gilbert had grown cold before her trip several months ago to Sweden.

Not so with Gene Markey, though. The artist and writer was said to be "crushed" in his home in Evanston, Ill., after learning of the Gilbert-Claire wedding in Las Vegas, Nev.

Before meeting Gilbert in Hollywood, whither she came to work in "talkies," Miss Claire was said to have rented an apartment in New York where she and Markey planned to spend their honeymoon.

JEWEL CASE RECOVERED IN YARD

The thief who robbed Attorney Simon T. Patterson's home at 5365 Darlington road was $246 richer today—and $15,000 poorer. Patterson is corporation counsel and director of several industrial concerns.

He took the $246 in cash, but he apparently was afraid to keep the $15,000 in jewelry that lay before him.

DROPS GEM BOX

He did take a sterling silver jewel case containing diamonds valued at $10,000, but it was found a few feet from the house, unopened, and probably dropped deliberately by the burglar.

Inside the house the intruder had gathered together all the jewelry he could find—$5,000 worth—and then placed it carefully on a bedroom dresser.

SECOND FLOOR RANSACKED

The Pattersons were absent when the burglar arrived, pried open a window and ransacked every room on the second floor.

Although he had the house to himself, the gem-shunning burglar ignored the first floor and confined his activities to the second. There he found the $246 in the drawer of a dresser.

The robbery was discovered shortly after midnight by Mrs. Patterson when she and Mrs. Patterson returned home.

5 HURT IN PARK AUTO CRASH

Five persons were injured, three seriously, when an automobile crashed into a pole on the main driveway near the race track in Schenley Park last night.

They were E. R. Stivers, 46, of 524 Pressley street; Mrs. Josephine Stivers, 46, his wife; Mrs. Mary Porch, 50, of Jeannette Pa.; Anna Val, 25, of 1330 Penn avenue, and Bert Miller, 38, of 524 Pressley street.

All were taken to Homeopathic Hospital where it was found Mrs. Stiver, Mrs. Porch and Miller suffered injuries to their heads and legs. Stiver and Miss Valek were treated for minor injuries.

Stiver and Miller, the latter being known also as Palmer, according to police, were arrested and taken to Oakland station, where they were charged with violating the automobile laws and reckless driving. Each claimed the other was driving at the time of the crash. A short time previously, it was said, the car collided with one driven by A. V. Morgan, 6621 Woodwell street.

Car Plunges Over Hill In Park, Three Hurt

Three men were injured when an automobile driven by John Miller, 35, of 65 Pride street, plunged down a 50-foot embankment in Schenley Park near the Greenfield avenue-Oakland bridge late yesterday. Miller, Frank Meyer, 64, of 193 Fifth avenue, and Webster Miller, 62, of 119 Carson street, were hurt. Miller was taken to Mercey Hospital, where it was said his collar bone was broken. The others suffered minor injuries. The accident occurred when Miller swerved his car to avoid an obstruction in the roadway. His brakes failed and he lost control of the car.

Man Failing to Get Work Hangs Himself

"If I don't get work today I am going to hang myself," Garbo Kardos, 50, of 133 Genesta street, is reported to have said yesterday to Steve Matis, at whose home he roomed.

Today Matis found Kardos' body hanging by a clothes line from a cellar joist in a new house at 48 Genesta street, he reported to the coroner. In a notebook in Kardos' pocket was found, written in Hungarian, his decision to end his life if he did not get work.

BANK EMPLOYES GIVE SOLID BACKING TO TAX CUT DRIVE

POWER LOAN ADMITTED IN PAPER DEAL

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS.)—Skillful questioning by counsel for the Federal Trade Commission in the latter's investigation into public utility operations today had brought forth testimony showing that the International Paper and Power Company had successfully negotiated the purchase of four Southern newspapers through an $800,000 loan.

Attempts to purchase interests in more than a dozen other newspapers fell short of attainment, the testimony showed.

William Lavarre and Harold Hall were the witnesses before the commission's hearing who told of an $870,000 loan that financed their purchase of the Augusta, Ga., "Chronicle," the Columbia, S. C., "Record," and the Spartanburg, S. C., "Herald" and "Journal."

Lavarre revealed that arrangements for the financing of the newspapers' purchase by the loan, made on notes given by them to the International Paper and Power company's subsidiary, the International Paper company, were made last November by Hall and himself with Archibald R. Graustein, of Boston, president of the International Paper and Power concern.

SECURED BY STOCK

The notes on which the loan was based were secured by stocks in the newspapers purchased, Lavarre said.

Lavarre testified that no attempts to influence the editorial policies of his newspapers had been made by the International which, he said, had no connection with the editorial management of the Hall-Lavarre publications.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, however, inserted in the record two exhibits from editors of the newspapers puchased by Hall and Lavarre. One of the exhibits recorded the resignation of the principal editorial director of the chain and the other sought an explanation from Lavarre concerning the International's financial holdings in the Columbia Record.

The first exhibit was a telegram from Charles O. Hearon to Lavarre in which Hearon submitted his resignation as editor of the Spartanburg Herald and Journal, and as supervising editor of the two other papers.

SCORNED BY EDITORS

Declaring, in the telegram, that he "had never agreed to become the editor of newspapers owned or controlled by the International Paper and Power Company or any special interests," Hearon asserted that he was under the impression "we were selling the newspapers to you individually."

Prior to the Hall-Lavarre purchase, Hearon had been part owner of the Spartanburg publications.

The other exhibit was a letter written by Fitz Hugh McMaster, editor of the Columbia Record, which expressed "amazement" over Graustein's testimony before the commission and asked Lavarre for an explanation of the purchase of the Record.

McMaster declared that he would not have accepted the position as editor of the Record if he had understood that it was "owned or controlled" by Power companies or Public Utility companies and referred to "our original understanding," which, he said, "was that I was to be free and untrammeled in my editorial policy."

Hotel Robbery Laid To Murder Suspects

ERIE, Pa., May 11.—(AP.)—The trial of Sam Bard, Joe Invie and Fred Elverson, Minneapolis men charged with the slaying of Russell T. Swanson, state highway patrolman, was continued yesterday from the May term of court to June 10. The continuance was granted in an order signed by three judges. The order discharged the petition of counsel for the men asking a change of venue.

An attachment was served on Bard by the Nicollett Hotel of Minneapolis. The attachment was for a $4,000 debt. Minneapolis police said the Hotel was robbed of $7,000, allegedly by Bard, Invie and Elverson, a few days before they were arrested here.

Dry Witness Against Sheriff Found Slain

DENVER, May 11.—(AP.)—The body of Joe Clark, Denver police character and chief witness for the government against Walter Johnson, sheriff of Jefferson County, recently indicted for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, has been found in a field six miles north of Denver. He had been shot to death.

District Attorney Joel Stone and Denver police officers who investigated the slaying expressed the opinion "Clark had been taken for a ride." Detectives declared the belief Clark was shot while endeavoring to escape from his captors.

M'GOVERN FEUD MARKS TIME

Recriminations were even today in the legal squabble between County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and County Controller Robert G. Woodside over Woodside's annual report for 1927.

McGovern was considering what answer, if any, he would make to a motion filed in Common Pleas Court by the Controller's counsel to strike off the taxpayers' appeal sponsored by McGovern from the Woodside report.

The motion charged that McGovern did not sign the affidavit in good faith and that the other 14 signers were under a misapprehension of law and facts.

McGovern as controller approved the payment of $95,000 and as county commissioner approved the payment of $32,000 which he sought to have declared as surcharges against County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, the motion filed by Woodside alleged. The $32,000 item was not paid out until 1928 and was not the subject of a surcharge in 1927, for which the report was filed, according to Woodside's answer. The affidavit was not signed in good faith by McGovern because he knew those facts, it was alleged.

The 1927 report was filed by Controller Woodside only because of the failure of McGovern to file it, it was alleged. Other objections of the appeal were based on the form of the report and lack of sufficient detail, a matter for the controller's discretion and not the subject of an appeal, it was stated.

Flier Dies as Plane Plunges Into Water

The plane nosed into the water at great speed, pinning Mang in the cockpit. His mechanic, J. Franklin Seratt, of Muskogee, Okla., was not injured.

Rum Recipe Found On Hoover's Office Floor

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS.)—It would, perhaps, be well when President Hoover finally selects his law enforcement commission to have that body begin its investigation right at the White House.

At the conclusion of the usual Friday press conference with the President, attended by about 100 newspapermen, an attache picked up a slip of paper from the floor of Mr. Hoover's office, which bore the following notation:

"One-half vermouth, ½ gin, two dashes creme de menthe."

There were loud disclaimers from the pressroom to the effect no reporter has enough money to purchase creme de menthe nowadays.

PRINCE TO WED MRS. COREY

Mrs. Corey said in announcing the engagement, "We have both finally made up our minds."

The prince himself was not present at the engagement party, the French government having expelled him from the country several years ago. The prince is understood to be awaiting the arrival of his mother and fiancee at San Remo, where he has a villa.

FIRST MET IN 1907

The marriage will lift to royal circles a woman who began a stage career as a chorus girl, attaining musical comedy stardom in 1903 when she first met Corey, then president of the United States Steel Corporation. Three years later the steel leader's wife, Mrs. Laura Cook Corey, obtained a divorce from him at Reno, Nev., and in 1907 the actress, then Mabelle Gilman, became Mrs. Corey in New York.

She obtained a divorce in Paris in November, 1924.

The Prince, who is now about 40, first met Mrs. Corey in 1907, while she was still an actress, and immediately fell in love. The feeling persisted and when Mrs. Corey became free again in 1924, he felt free to press his suit.

"DOLLY VARDEN"

There were various reports of their engagement but these were always denied, Mrs. Corey denying one such herself last February with the words 'there is nothing to it.' Mrs. Corey maintained a chateau outside of Paris and of recent years has attained increasing social prominence.

She was born in San Luis Obispo, Cal., and christened Mabel Lavona Curtis. Her greatest success was as the star in the operetta, "Dolly Varden." Her religion always has been subject to varied reports. Her marriage to Corey was performed by a Congregational minister.

Killers of American Uncaught in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 11.—(AP.)—Press dispatches from Guadalajara last night said efforts to capture the two miners who stabbed to death Thomas S Decker, American engineer at the Cinco Minas mine at Hostottipaquillo, Jalisco, had failed. The men were alleged to have cut down Decker when he reprimanded them for idleness. Decker had been in this country about 25 years. His wife and two children left for the United States last month.

The United States embassy was officially advised of the stabbing by American Consul Raleigh Gibson, of Guadalajara.

TARIFF BOOSTS MAY SETTLE HOUSE FIGHT

By WILLIAM S. NEAL.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A compromise under which additional tariff barriers will be raised for both the industrial East and the agricultural South may emerge from the battle being waged in the House over the new Hawley tariff bill, it appeared today.

Republican leaders of the House have abandoned all hope of passing the bill as it came from the committee and instead were working out plans today to defeat a threatened coalition between Republicans and Democrats from the West and South to riddle the whole measure.

The optimistic predictions of House leaders that the bill would be passed by the House within 10 days also were knocked into a cocked hat. They have now set May 23 as a tentative date for a final vote, but expect that this will be moved up to about June 1.

CONSUMERS' BLOC

Demands of the East for revision of the bill centered around boots, shoes and leather goods, while the farm bloc is proposing sharp increases in duties on nine schedules, including live cattle, casein, hides, tapioca and sago, potato starch, black strap molasses, flaxseed and butter.

At the same time the formation of a "consumers' bloc" was under way, with the boost in raw sugar from 2.40 to 3 cents, and cement, brick and shingles schedules as the principal targets.

Having held a two-hour Republican conference without reaching a definite agreement, House leaders planned to continue general debate on the floor and call the Republicans together again next week to negotiate an agreement under which the bill can be passed over Democratic opposition.

PA. FIGHT DROPPED

Representative Snell (Rep.), of New York, presented the administration leaders' compromise proposal to the conference, by suggesting tentatively that separate votes be had in the House on live cattle, sugar, lumber, cement, leather goods and hides, and perhaps two or three other schedules. The rest of the bill would be passed by a solid Republican vote, under this plan.

Representative Laguardia (Rep.), of New York, served notice that he would wage a "consumers' fight" in prevent an increase in the tariff on sugar which, he alleged, would cost American consumers $190,000,000 a year. He also is prepared to fight increases on building materials.

The collapse of the threatened fight of the Pennsylvania delegation for American valuation, announced after a caucus of the delegation, caused administration leaders to predict that the administrative schedules would go through unchanged. These include reorganization of the tariff commission and giving the President greater rate-making power.

HOOVER'S FARM PLAN HIT AGAIN

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP.)—Having voted on the most contraversial sections of its farm relief bill, the Senate took a recess today with passage of the measure in sight early next week.

On top of the decision Wednesday to retain the export debenture section in the bill despite President Hoover's opposition, the Senate yesterday refused to leave the salary of the chairman of the proposed Federal farm board to the discretion of the chief executive, adopting an amendment to fix it at $12,000 a year.

Although the Republican independents and Democrats who lined up together to defeat the administration stand on the debenture proposal provided the principal strength for the salary amendment, the sharp lines of cleavage which developed in the former disagreement were not apparent yesterday and the elements of bitter controversy were lacking.

The difference between the intensity of the two issues was further emphasized by the fact that, while the Wednesday vote was 47 to 44, yesterday's count was 46 to 32.

The possibility of a final vote on the bill Monday or Tuesday is held out in the agreement reached by the Senate to limit debate after 3 p.m. Monday. A vote usually follows within a few hours after such an agreement is invoked.

Man Braves Fire In Burning Home To Save Cash

Savings of $500 locked in a bureau drawer of his home were saved late yesterday by Fred Anderson, when fire destroyed his home and store at 301 Sixteenth avenue, Munhall. At the heighth of the fire Anderson remembered the money and rushed through a rear door out of which smoke and flames were pouring, and up a stairway to the room. A few minutes later he appeared. Damage to the building, a two-story frame, was estimated at $3,000.

SETTLE DENIES PREMATURE LANDING

weather and did not get into trouble any time during the entire trip.

"The first night out we talked with Lieut. Richardson (pilot of Navy No. 2 who came down at Apollo early Sunday) for about 10 minutes with our blinker light, and then we settled down for a pleasant night ride. About 8:10 p. m. we passed over Kittanning and after that we just drifted in a northeasterly direction at a speed of about 15 miles per hour.

"We came down low Sunday morning over Tioga County, where a man on the ground gave us our bearings. We lost a bit of ballast, but not much by intermittent rains throughout the night. After verifying our position, we climbed to 6,500 feet above sea level and cruised along between 20 and 25 miles an hour. The sun was hot and Ensign Bushnell and I both got a heavy coat of tan.

ANOTHER BALLOON SIGHTED

"While drifting over New York state, we sighted one of the other balloons about 14,000 feet high, but he was so far to the east and south we could not make him out. I think it was one of the Detroit bags. We watched him for nearly an hour and then he shot down below the clouds and that was the last we saw of him.

"I figured our position crossing the Hudson River Sunday afternoon, but we were above the clouds and could not verify our calculations. We saw the ground rarely Sunday, getting only intermitant glimpses through the clouds from time to time.

"About 6:30 p. m. we dropped below the clouds to try to pick out some landmark which might verify our position and we managed to distinguish a sign over North Adams, Mass. We dropped messages and tried to talk to the townsfolk, but failed. From then on we saw nobody until we arrived over New Brunswick.

PILOT TALKS TO FARMER

"We came down low to talk with people on the ground and finaly after figuring our approximate position as in the vicinity of Gagetown, we came across a farmer. We talked to him from the air and brushed a clump of bushes on hillock, so close were we to the ground at this point. It was here, probably, that reports of our landing originated. The farmer must have mistaken our drag through the bushes as a landing."

Here Lieut. Settle paused in his narrative to explain that balloonists are entitled to a 15 minute involuntary stop. If their bag becomes entangled or fouled upon some object on the ground they have 15 minutes to disengage it and continue on their way without being disqualified.

"The rest of our trip was uneventful enough," he continued. "Arriving at Prince Edward Island, we found favorable breezes and had sufficient ballast for the trip across the channel, so we ventured out at high altitude. We dropped to the north shore and skirted along the water's edge with our drag rope trailing in the water until we found a favorable landing place."

GOES TO WASHINGTON

Lieut. Settle went directly to Washington, where he left his barograph and log for compilation at the National Aeronautical Association, and then hurried to Pittsburgh to join his wife. He probable will remain here over the week-end, returning to his station at Washington about Monday, he said.

He was enthusiastic over his chanes in the coming international races at St. Louis and declared that he would do his best to uphold Navy tradition that "a thing once accomplished can be done again."

WOMAN, 4 MEN HELD IN ROW

Four men and a woman were under arrest today following a shooting in the home of Mrs. Alice White, 24, of 315 Omega street. Police said that during an argument the woman fired four shots at William Klein, 27, of 235 Forty-third street, none of which took effect.

Frank Varrone, 50, of the Omega street address, is said to have struck Julius Pistella, 29, of 127 South St. Clair street, with a hammer, and also to have taken blame for the shooting. Mrs. White, Varrone Klein, Andrew Yourshaw, 30, of 1103 Brownsville avenue, and Pistella, were arrested by police of the Frankstown Avenue Station on charges of being suspicious persons.

CURB RENTING TO CABS HIT

clared, with the taxi companies claiming the right to use the streets at hundreds of points as parking stations for their cabs and not paying the city one cent for the privilege.

TWO WAYS OF RELIEF

"I can see only two ways of obtaining relief" said the director. "The ordinance under which owners of abutting property rent the streets for cab stands should be repealed, and the companies required to pay the city $10 per cab annually, with authority to designate cab stands vested solely in the Department of Public Safety. Either that, or the companies should be compelled to establish their stations on privately owned parking lots or in garages."

The cab companies and the concessionaires who bartered the city streets had given him "no end of trouble," Clark remarked.

There was a time, he said, when the Green and Yellow companies competed for cab stands.

One would close a deal with a property owner for the use of the street, and then the other would come along and submit a higher bid, causing the property owner to change his mind and ask the director to put the low bidder out.

As an example of what went on, he mentioned that the William Penn Hotel, which has a financial arrangement with the Yellow Cab Company, asked him at one time to require Green cabs to park on the other side of the street from the hotel entrance. He refused the request.

KLINE TO ACT

"Every day," said the director, "my time was taken up with these squabbles. It became an insufferable nuisance until I laid down the rule that cab stands were to be designated only twice a year—in January and July—and that one company was not to establish a stand within 200 feet of another."

Director Clark said he presumed Mayor Kline would recommend to Council the enactment of appropriate legislation to stop the bartering of the streets.

Weather Conditions.

The eastern high pressure area is now centered over the middle Atlantic coast, and covers all the Atlantic and Gulf Coast states. The skies are clear over that section. The western low pressure area now covers the upper Mississippi Valley states, with a narrow trough extending southwestward over the central plains to New Mexico. Centers of disturbance are located in New Mexico, and in Western Ontario. The low is causing cloudy weather generally throuhgout the lake region, the upper Mississippi Valley states, the Plains states and the Ohio valley and showers and thunderstorms from the lakes southwestward over Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and the panhandle of Texas.

Rising barometer over the Dakotas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado is causing a slight drop in temperature over that section, elsewhere the temperature changes are generally towards rising.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Pittsburgh is 14.8; Dam No. 2, 6.2; Dam No. 6, 13.0; Dam No. 9, 13.8, and Dam No. 12, 13.0. The dams are down.

NESBIT O.K.'S REDUCTION MOVE

The Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., oldest financial institution west of the Alleghenies, gives 100 per cent support to the movement for a reduction of the federal tax on earned incomes.

President Harrison Nesbit today announced that every officer and employe gives unqualified approval to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's campaign urging Congress to lighten the burden of American wage earners through the present system of taxing their incomes.

OFFICERS SIGN

Except for two or three members of the board of directors and officers of the Bank of Pittsburgh who are out of the city on extended journeys, every person connected with the bank signed the Sun-Telegraph petitions. The officers are: Mr. Nesbit, president; J. D. Ayres, J. M. Russell, S. B. Congdon, William M. Bell, W. T. Davidson and V. C. Boggs, vice presidents; Scott H. Nesbit, cashier; F. D. Young, William M. Kiser, S. M. Shelly, Elmer Jackson, assistant cashiers; William A. Wilson, trust officer and vice president; C. R. Hoffman, trust officer; J. A. Reusher, comptroller.

The members of the board of directors are: J. D. Ayres, J. Stuart Brown, E. R. Crawford, George Davidson, I. W. Frank, C. F. Holdship, T. Clifton Jenkins, George A. Kelly, Jr., Frank J. Lanahan, Gen. Albert J. Logan, Charles A. Rowan, C. E. Rafter, D. E. Weir, L. F. Crawford, J. M. Russell, S. B. Congdon, W. A. Wilson, J. B. Haines, Jr., James H. Childs, R. G. Jennings, John B. Watson, B. D. Phillips, H. F. Bovard, E. W. Smith, J. G. Lewis.

MORE RETURNS DUE

In all the other leading banks and trust companies of the city the petitions are in circulation and reports are that signatures are being obtained by the hundreds. The final return on these will be called early next week. Insurance agencies and brokerage houses are signing up in behalf of the cause with the same spirit.

It is a far cry from the counting room of a bank to the pilot house of a steamboat and there is little in common in the daily routine of a banker and the skipper of a river craft, but both "are in the same boat" in their stand on the tax on earned incomes. When officers and employes of the Rodgers Sand Company made a record of 100 per cent in signing Sun-Telegraph petitions, Capt. L. A. Menk, of the Margaret, one of the boats of the company's river fleet, called for a petition and signed it while he stood at the wheel in the pilot house. Below decks several other officers and members of the crew eligible to sign added their names to the paper.

ON THURSDAY New York unveiled the busts of eight "American immortals," namely, William Cullen Bryant, Henry Clay, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, James Madison, Francis Parkman, and Emma Willard.

ALL THE eight are respectable, three had exceptional talent, not one belongs in any group of "immortals," not even in the short immortality of this earth.

However humble you may be, you will be as immortal as they in less than 1,000 years.

THE world ten centuries hence will remember Fulton and Edison, probably not another of all that America has produced. No reason to weep on that account. It's what you amount to in your working days that counts, the usual work you do for your fellow creatures.

THE price of call money dropped to 6 per cent yesterday. That's good news for borrowers, not so good for lenders.

A corporation recently formed to lend money on call will find it hard to pay preferred stockholders 7 per cent if call money brings only 6 per cent, or the old-fashioned rate of 3 or 4 per cent.

However, the Federal Reserve still lives, and will probably know how to hold up the hands of the usurpers.

DOPE EVIL SPREADING ALONG MEXICAN BORDER

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Dope evil is spreading dangerously along the Mexican border.

Addiction is being curbed in other parts of the country.

The two narcotic rehabilitation farms authorized by Congress should have a minimum capacity for 1,000 patients each.

California is pointing the way to other states in enacting model legislation to curb the drug traffic.

These observations, based on a nation-wide inspection tour, were just made by Dr. Walter L. Treadway, chief of the narcotic division of the Federal Public Health Service.

Dr. Treadway has charge of the preliminary plans for the two farms. His investigation has convinced him that one farm should be located in the Southeast and the other in the Rocky Mountain section or on the Pacific Coast.

"A bad situation has developed along the Mexican border," said Dr. Treadway. "I was told that drugs are easily procurable in the gambling dens in Mexican towns across the Rio Grande, and that dope is sold rather openly in the streets. Addiction is increasing in American cities adjacent to the border."

Dr. Treadway visited the three federal prisons in Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island, Washington. He said they were all badly overcrowded and because of this condition no substantial progress was being made in curing addict-prisoners.

28 JONES LAW BILLS FOUND

The Federal grand jury this week returned 28 indictments charging 34 men and women with violations of the prohibition law since the Jones "five and ten" law became effective March 2. There were also 25 other indictments charging 31 persons with liquor violations that occurred before the enactment of the Jones law.

The jury adjourned yesterday but will resume its investigations Monday morning. In addition to making its returns in the liquor indictments and others alleging various offenses against the government, the jury has had Charles Friedman, of Versailles Township, a government prisoner before it several times.

It is believed Friedman is making statements relative to alleged violations of the prohibition law in the McKeesport district prior to his conviction.

DRY VIOLATOR GETS 30 MOS.

J. Ray (Slim) Austin, of Library road, before being sentenced by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to 30 months in the Atlanta penintentiary under the Jones "five and ten" law, told government authorities he intended to make a clean breast of all liquor charges against him and, after paying the penalty, "go west."

In carrying out his intention he became the first violator sentenced in the court under the Jones act.

Austin also pleaded guilty to three old indictments charging conspiracies to violate the prohibition law and to an information charging transportation and possession of liquor.

In the prosecution of the cases the government was represented by Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans. W. M. Dunn, 65, and his son, Paul Dunn, 23, named co-defendants with Austin in the recent indictment, were committed to jail pending trial.

Bishop Wants More Teeth in Jones Law

The Jones law needs more teeth, and it will not be long until it has them, Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church said in an address at the North Avenue Methodist Church, North Side, last night. The law is a great achievement and was intended for "higher-ups," he declared.

"A foreigner who violates the liquor law is not worthy of remaining in this country," Bishop Berry said. "It is just as sensible to say that America will return to human slavery as it is to say that legalized liquor traffic will come back," he concluded.

Convicted in Fatal Crash, Plans Appeal

Attorneys today were preparing to file a motion for a new trial for L. R. Jadeja, 30, of 323 Robinson street, convicted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court yesterday. It was charged he was the driver of an automobile which collided with a car driven by John Wolfe, 35, of 1884 Clayton avenue, Wolfe suffering injuries which caused his death.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 11.—Andy Lepock, 54, a miner at the Owings mine near Shinnston, ended his life yesterday by placing a stick of dynamite in his mouth and lighting the fuse. He then sat down on a block of coal and calmly waited. His head was blown off.

TOUR OF SOUTH PLANNED BY HOOVER DURING FALL

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP.)—President Hoover contemplates a tour of the South, and is hopeful that the administrative and legislative situation will be cleared up sufficiently so that he can absent himself from the capital for an appreciable length of time this fall.

His trip through Dixie will be separate from the journey he is to make to the West Indies for visits to Cuba, Porto Rico and perhaps some other islands. He hopes to be able thus to round out his good will tour of Latin America within a year.

While the itinearary of the southern trip as yet has not even approached the formulative stage, it will carry him as far southwest as Texas, which he has been urged to visit ever since his election. He had considered going there on the return from South America, but found that time would not permit.

Formal invitations have come to the President from the Chambers of Commerce of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, where the Democratic national convention was held last year, and expectation is that he will arrange his schedule so as to visit all three of these places.

Naturally he will want to revisit the scenes of his flood relief work on the Mississippi two years ago, and so is expected to include Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and perhaps Arkansas in his schedule.

Invitations also are before the chief executive to visit Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and if possible he will make stops in all of those commonwealths.

1773 Paper Found In Antiques at Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 11.—What is believed to be the oldest newspaper in Fayette County and possibly in Western Pennsylvania, is a 156-year-old copy of the Baltimore Advertiser and Maryland Journal, dated August 26, 1773, found this week among antiques owned by Mrs. Alfaretta Manges, of Brownsville.

The paper, which boasted of containing the "freshest advice, both foreign and domestic," contains many items of interest pertaining to the pre-revolutionary days. One was from George Washington, who offered free rent for a reasonable number of years to those persons who desired to settle on upwards of 20,000 acres of land on the Ohio and Great Kanawha rivers.

W. M. DUNN J. RAY (SLIM) AUSTIN

Austin, 6 feet 7 inches, first defendant sentenced in Federal Court for Jones Law violation, jail-bound to await removal to Atlanta to serve 30 months. Prohibition Investigator J. A. Frayne described him in court as "the most persistent and flagrant prohibition law violator in this district." Dunn, caught with Austin, was jailed in default of bond after indictment to await trial.

SINCLAIR STILL OUT OF VIEW

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS.)—Despite the fact that Harry F. Sinclair is now "at home" in the District of Columbia jail, capital reporters cooled their heels inside the gates of the grey bastile today, no nearer and no farther from the famous prisoner than they were when the order barring newspapermen from the jail was in effect.

The veil of secrecy surrounding Sinclair's activity as a pharmacy dispensary assistant in the jail has been lifted to the extent that newspapermen may obtain information from jail officials regarding the oil man's movements, but—and it's a real "but" to the reporters—they cannot see him.

A threatened investigation by Congress of possible favoritism being shown Sinclair preceded an announcement by Director of Public Welfare George S. Wilson in which the privileges of reporters were restored.

Wilson denied that there had been any intention of "interfering with the legitimate prerogatives of the press," but said that it had become necessary "temporarily to deny admission to the public to the jail because the continued presence of a considerable number of people had interfered seriously with the operation of the institution."

Senator Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama, had charged in the Senate that Sinclair was being allowed "special privileges" not accorded other inmates of the jail.

KEYSTONE GIRL IN ROYAL BOW

Miss Mollie Porter Cullum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barlow Cullum, of Sewickley and Reading, was Pennsylvania's representative among the eight American girls who last night made their appearance before Queen Mary at a ball in Buckingham Palace. Miss Cullum has been abroad for the past year, studying at the Sorbonne. Previously she attended the Agnes Irwin School at Philadelphia and the Farmington School in Connecticut.

LONDON, May 11.—(AP.)—The scene at Buckingham Palace last night for the second court held by Queen Mary was almost a parallel of that of Thursday evening, although more debutantes were presented and the rooms were crowded.

A large proportion of the presentations last night were of representatives of the dominions and colonies.

Just as the public during the wait in the Mall Thursday evening picked out the American tennis star, Helen Wills, on whom to center attention, so last night Eileen Bennett, young English player, stood out among the debutantes.

The automobile of Miss Bennett was mobbed by excited women in the Mall in the same way that the crowd had pressed around that of Miss Wills.

Prosperity Shown In Payroll Growth

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 11.—April payroll of $7,598,459 is highest in past six months, and about $1,000,000 higher than April, 1928. It reflects improved industrial conditions. In the first four months this year Valley industries distributed $29,581,637, an increase of $3,560,824 over the first four months of last year.

Production continues high, averaging close to physical capacity in steel sheets, strip steel, hot and cold, tin plate, terne plate, and between 85 and 90 per cent in merchant bars, steel plates and wire products. Steel plants are pushed to capacity to meet requirements of rolling mills, and there will be no diminution next week.

MRS. FORD TO AWARD GARDEN SCHOLARSHIPS

With Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile manufacturer, presiding, the executive council of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, meeting at the Sewickley home of Mrs. Walter S. Mitchell, today will award scholarships in horticulture, which the association was formed to promote.

The scholarships are to be known as the Sarah Bradley Tyson scholarships, and a yearly fund of $12,000 has been set up for them. Mrs. Tyson was for many years president of the association.

Mrs. Ford, national president of the organization, came to Pittsburgh yesterday with her husband in the Ford private car. At the Pennsylvania Station they parted, he to motor to Detroit in a car bearing his name, she to drive to Sewickley in a Rolls-Royce.

AT REA ESTATE

After luncheon and a business session of the executive council at the Allegheny Country Club, Mrs. Ford inspected the gardens of Mrs. Henry R. Rea's estate.

Gardens and farming come first in interest with her, she said, after her husband and her son, Edsel.

She believes the gap between women of the city and women of the farm can be bridged by inducing both classes to acquire greater knowledge of horticulture and agriculture.

FOR BETTER ACQUAINTANCE

The Farm and Garden Association, Mrs. Ford explained, was founded for just this purpose.

"Women of the city and women of the country should get better acquainted," is her belief. "It is good for them. Only in this way can they come to a realization of their interdependence and learn to appreciate their individual problems. Correspondence through our magazine and talks together at our meetings are accomplishing much."

Upon other matters Mrs. Ford had nothing to say for publication.

END OF PARLEY ON DEBT NEAR

PARIS, May 11.—(AP.)—Sir Josiah Stamp sought today in private conversations with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German reparations spokesman, to reduce to written text the German conditons to acceptance of the reparations figures of Owen D. Young.

Such results as the English delegation head and the Reichsbank president achieve probably will be reported to a plenary session of the committee of experts on Tuesday. It is possible that under favorable conditions this plenary session will mark the close of the experts' work.

The thorny problem of revision of the national allotments of the reparations payments as provided in the Spa agreement has been sidetracked temporarily, the assumption being it may be solved by subsequent inter-creditor nation negotiations at which Germany need not even be represented.

The sub-committee which has been working on preparation of the report of the conference has finished its task, with only the actual figures and various national reservations remaining to be included.

When police, investigating Cicero (Ill.) gang slaying, found a 'phone number on the body of Albert Anselmi, they called it and Mrs. Quirk answered. Quizzed, she admitted, police say, being the link between Scalise and "Joe Black" and her husband, in jail charged with murder.

Application for a charter for the Associated Florists of Western Pennsylvania was filed in Common Pleas Court. The association gave as its purpose the encouraging of growers of flowers and plants, the establishing of standards of quality and the grading and awarding of prizes to growers and distributors. The florists will co-operate in advertising. The subscribers to the application were A. W. Smith, Jr., T. P. Langhans, Harvey C. Shaeff, E. J. McCallum, Gilbert P. Weaklin, A. B. Phone Rate Fight Won by Johnstown HARRISBURG, May 10.—(AP.)—Sustaining complaints filed against its 1927 tariff rates, the Public Service Commission yesterday ordered the Johnstown Telephone Company to prepare a new schedule reducing its annual revenue by $31,800.

The commission suggested that the telephone company make its reduction in rates for business uses, since the greatest increases were made in those schedules. The complaints were entered by Mayor Louis Frank, when he was in office in 1927, and by a number of other subscribers.

WESTERNS PASSE ON SCREEN SO STARS GO BACK TO CIRCUS LIFE

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

BUCK JONES, erstwhile Western star, is ready to take to the road with his own wild west show. His wife and 11-year-old daughter, Maxine, go with him and will also appear under the Big Top. It was while with the 101 Show that Buck met his better half, who was also a performer.

The star, I hear tell, has sunk $100,000 of his own money in his wild west troupe. The company and props—animated and otherwise (the props, I mean)—will travel aboard a private train. They will be on the road approximately 30 weeks.

Buck Jones

Buck also is taking along movie cameras and celluloid. He figures he'll make two pictures during and between show hours. Silent, not talky. In due time, the Jones return to their Bev Hills home which they will close during the wild west jaunt across the country.

Tom Mix is another Western star who has returned to his first love—the Big Top. Tom, too, was originally with the 101'ers. Curiously enough, when Buck Jones left his troupe, he edged into the sinema as Tom's double before becoming a name unto himself. The day of the Western flick, however, is somewhat passe. Maybe it's the horses—

Duncan Sisters May Make Talkie

SCREENALITIES: Wot Ho! The DUNCAN SISTERS. Back in ye colony making hey-hey in a local voodvil house for two weeks. Suspect they'll stay to do a talky, mebbe for Warners. . . . Sh-h-h-h, CHARLIE CHAPLIN has had the gray removed from his hair. 'Tis brownish black now, indicating the komedian is grinding his new comedy, "City Lights." . . . GASTON GLASS is playing a dual role at Jimmy Cruze's studio. When Gaston isn't emoting before the camera he sallies forth as the company's casting director. . . . MARION DAVIES is having a lovely time these days. Um, Marion is dentisting. Her initial grind checked in two hours and a half. . . . LORETTA YOUNG was 14 years old when she played her first celluloid love scenes! Um, with Lon Chaney in "Laugh, Clown, Laugh." Loretta is 16 today. By the time she's 18, she should be a star in her own right. . . . Looks like W. C. FIELDS, an old timer to silent flicks but a talky uninitiated, is figuring on a Hollywood invasion. Fields wires TOM GERAGHTY:

Loretta Young

"Dear Tom: Met Douglas Fairbanks today at the eleventh hole at Sound View and he conveyed all your good wishes, which pleased me greatly. He looks wonderfully well as usual and I was pleased to see him again. Mr. Burkhalter told me you were coming here. If we do not leave before you arrive call us. We have plenty of room for you and your family if you care to honor us. Sweetly tender food and chilled aerated water guaranteed. Cards at my golf club and my athletic club. Love to all. Bill Fields."

Moran and Mack Visit Theater

MORAN AND MACK, the Two Black Crows, dropped in at the Orpheum Theater to see some friends on the bill. Act after act went by with their tickets unused. Moran kept urging they go see the show, but Mack was much too comfortable.

Moran: Come on. Let's go see the show.

Mack: What show?

Moran: The show we came to see.

Mack: Oh, we been in better shows than this.

Moran: Say, I'd like to know why we came all the way down here.

Mack: We don't need a reason any more. We're here, ain't we?

Bubbles is the name answered to by the very inky colored artist who shares honors with Lady Luck (a goat) and his partner, Buck, in the Hugh Wiley "Wild Cat Series." Being transposed into celluloid via Monte Brice at Pathe.

Bubbles arrived at work 'tother morn full of gloom. He complained wukin' in movies was all right when you stayed out-doors. But wukin' under them incandescent lights was pretty awful. "When ah got home last night," he declared, "I was three shades darker in color and mah own mama hardly recognized me!"

Carter for mayor-manager, as the Republican candidate in the primary. He received 3,735 votes, against 3,372 for Carter, while Harvey L. Kirk, former manager, was third with 3,046. John H. Lazear, county superintendent of schools, was unopposed on the Democratic ticket. The bridge bond issue, which would have given free rights to Wheeling Island to autoists, was defeated, 14,212 to 4,371.

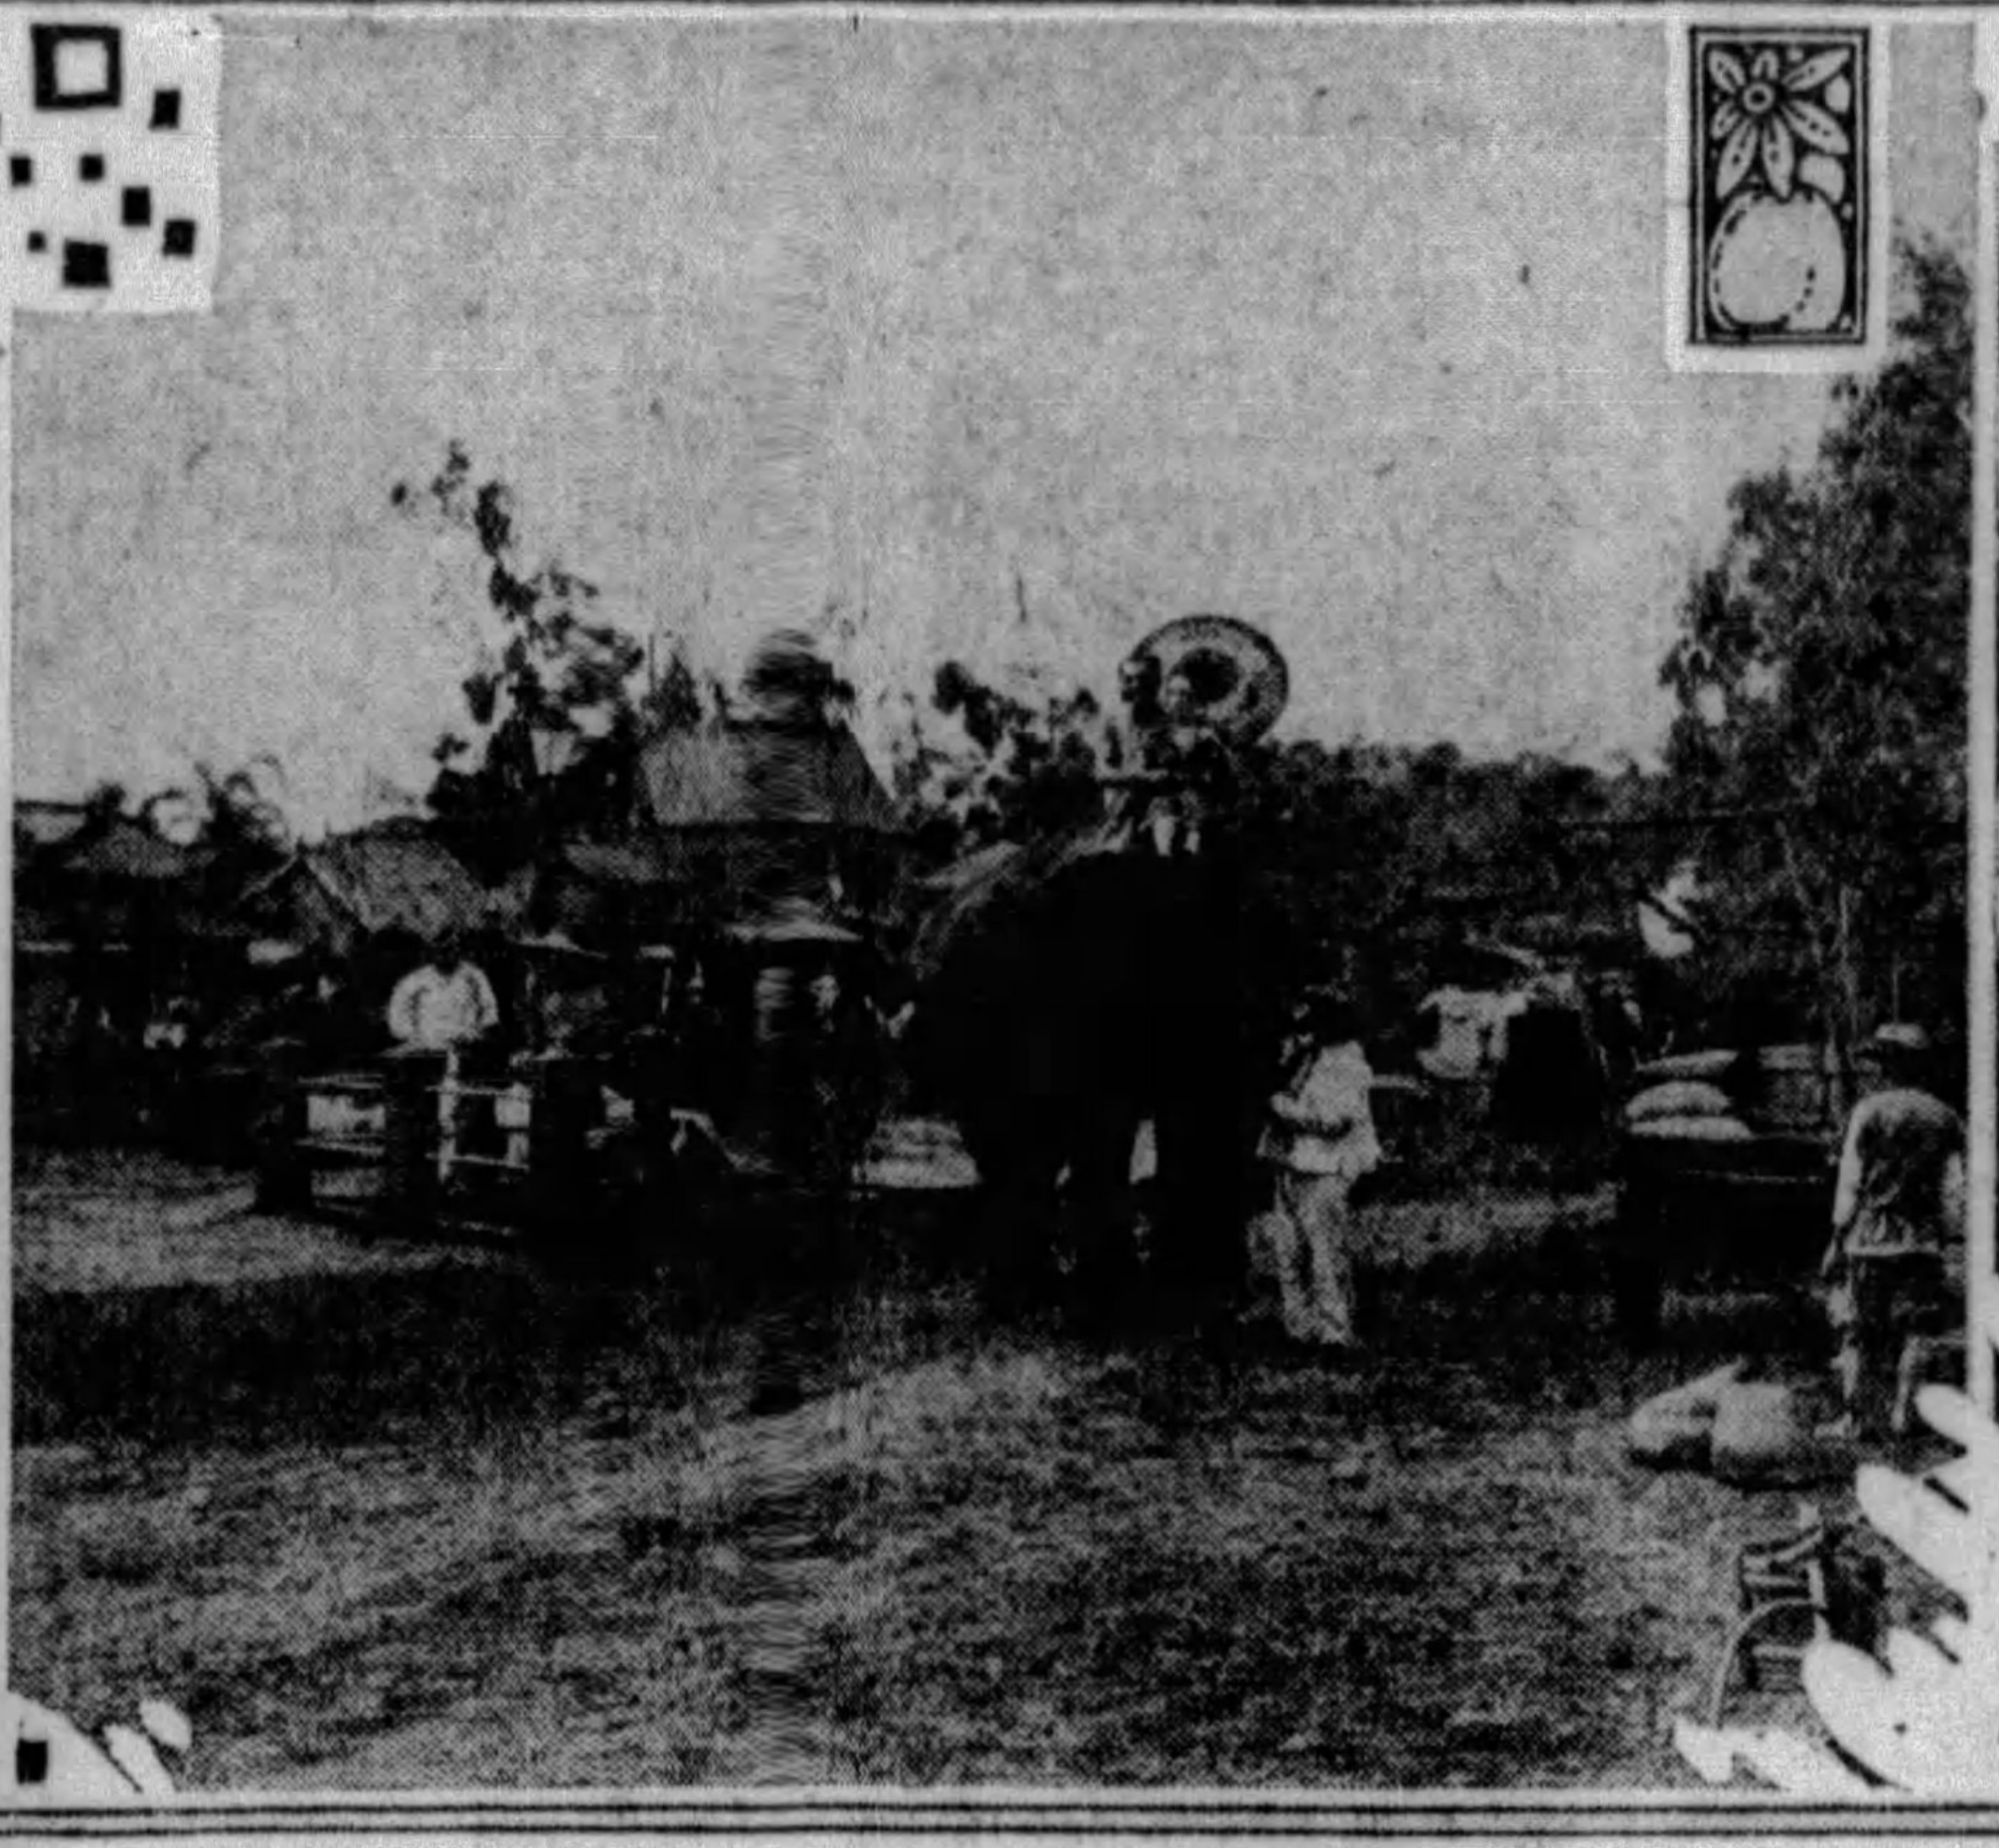
LON CHANEY :: BRINGS TROPICS :: TO HOLLYWOOD

The terrible Mr. Lon Chaney and Lupe Velez do some tropical emoting before Tod Browning's cameras in "Where East Is East," latest Chaney opus.



And here is one of the tropical scenes in the film, which proves once more that geography and Hollywood mean nothing to each other.

As for elephants, the picture has plenty of them, and Lon found amusement in looking over their dental work.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mary Elizabeth Floyd To Make Her Bow at Tea November 19

A COUPLE of months ago, when we first realized how much longer than ordinary is next winter's roster of debutantes, it was difficult to realize just how the increased number of parties indicated could be crowded into one short season. You will remember how busy were October, November and December, and how few more social events could have found a place on the social calendar.

From a distance, the effect, at first, seemed utterly confused, but, like a kaleidoscope, the season is arranging itself in order, as dates are definitely taken. And following the same figure of speech, the winter looms as a most colorful affair, socially speaking.

One of the latest dates chosen is Mary Elizabeth Floyd's coming-out party. Mary Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Atterbury McGinley, of North Lincoln avenue, North Side, and Sewickley Heights, and you may remember my telling you about the ball which Mr. and Mrs. McGinley are to give for her on December 27 in the Pittsburgh Club.

Now I can tell you the date for Mary Elizabeth's formal debut. She will be presented at a tea which her mother will give on Tuesday afternoon, November 19, in her Sewickley Heights home. The McGinleys, by the way, have opened their summer place and will, I understand, be there until after the debut.

AN engagement of interest is announced today. It is that of Cora Mae Callear, daughter of Mrs. William McKewan Callear, of Oakmont, and the late William McKewan Callear, to Lieut. William Thornton Watson, M. C., of Nelson, New Zealand, and Sydney, Australia. The wedding is scheduled to take place on September 14 over in Sydney.

The fiancee was a student at Miss Thurston's School and at Miss Chamberlayne's School in Boston. She also studied art here and in New York and Europe. Lieut. Watson served with the Australian forces during the World War, and is a member of the Imperial Service Club and the Swords Club, of Sydney.

ABOUT 300 guests attended the garden party and tea which Mrs Henry R. Rea gave yesterday afternoon at "Farm Hill," her Sewickley Heights home, in honor of Mrs. Henry Ford, president of the Michigan Council of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, who is spending two days with Mrs. Walter S. Mitchell, of Dundee Farm, Sewickley Heights. Mrs. Ford wore a black silk ensemble with a small black hat, and a sable scarf, while Mrs. Rea wore white crepe embroidered with gold, with a green felt hat. Mrs. Mitchell was gowned in black, while Mrs. Alexander J. Barron, chairman of the Allegheny County branch of the association, wore beige tweed with a hat to match.

Before the tea, Mrs. Eleanor Chalfant entertained the officers and delegates to the association conference at luncheon in the Allegheny Country Club

ADDED to the list of June weddings is that of Margaret Hanable, granddaughter of Mrs. Robert F. Shannon, of Edgeworth lane, Edgeworth, and Humbert Bianchi, son of Mrs. Filomena Bianchi, of Ambridge, which will take place Saturday, June 1, in the First Presbyterian Church of Sewickley. The ceremony will be performed at 5:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Owen Davies Odell and will be followed by a dinner for the families and a few friends in the Shannon home.

AT a dinner party of the E. N. Club of Wilinsburg, given last night in the Roosevelt Hotel, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Helen McAllister, daughter of Mrs. B. C. McAllister, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, to Thomas M. Schuchman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schuchman, of Johnstown.

MR. and Mrs. Samuel Marcovsky, of Beacon street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lillian M. Marcovsky, to Harry K. Braun, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Braun, of Cleveland. Miss Marcovsky is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College and Mr. Braun was graduated from the Cleveland Law School.

College Club Sees Original Program

CERTAINLY no more original program has ever been presented before the College Club than that which vastly entertained yesterday afternoon's audience. It was announced as "Chauve Souris" and Mrs. Edward B. Lee was the exceedingly clever and imitative, as well as imitation, Balieff. The printed program gave to each participant and her act a wildly Russian name, clever in its conception. A grotesque dance in Russian costume was done by Loma Hochl and Lucille Brown to open, then followed a richly humorous "washlady" monologue by Mrs. Ray Quick, who was introduced as "the colored Ruth Draper." "Hiawatha," written entirely in terms of widely advertised articles, was read by Mrs. J. E. Webster. Joan Green's "mis interpretation" was another bright spot—a fanciful dance in Negro makeup. But the Sigmund Spaeth opera burlesque was the chief delight of the afternoon. With the keenest sense of humor and out of his perfect understanding of music, Dr. Spaeth has produced a screamingly funny act, "Jack and Jill," in various operatic forms, which was presented yesterday by Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Harvey Fouse, Mrs. B. O. Austin, Mrs. Richard Allen and Mrs. Henry Cole. These were introduced as Dr. Spaeth himself, Anna Casabronkritis, Emma Aimshigher, Ernestine Humanshank and Amelita Grabascreechi. Mrs. James H. Greene, in a beautiful gown that had been her mother's, was "the orchestra" who, with illustrative motifs and accompaniments, added much to the success. Miss Lucille Burrell accompanied the duet dance and Miss Helen Bell Rush was at the piano for Joan Green's number.

A NUMBER of civic and patriotic organizations have endorsed the benefit performance which the tree planting committee of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will sponsor at the Pitt Theater Tuesday evening. The reason for the endorsement lies in the fact that the proceeds are to be used for planting the new Negley avenue entrance to Highland Park as a memorial to the women who served in the World War. The chapter is making a gala event of the benefit. Mrs. William D. Hamilton, regent of the chapter, will entertain a party of friends, as will Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney, Mrs. Verner S. Gaggin and Mrs. James B. Eiseman and others. Mrs. William J. REPORT SHOWS WELFARE FUND SUCCESS

Success has marked the first four months' operation of the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh, according to the report of President Augustus K. Oliver, presented at a meeting of the board of directors in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Seventy-five per cent of $973,266.62 subscribed in the campaign last fall had been paid in, April 30, with two payment periods still to follow, Mr. Oliver said. Sufficient funds are already on hand to meet the needs of the 25 philanthropies included in the membership until October 1.

The 25 philanthropies supported this year, and the amounts paid to each in the first four months, are:

The American Red Cross, Pittsburgh chapter, $49,281.48; American Citizenship League, $3,905.36; Brashear Association, $6,072.48; Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania, Allegheny County auxiliary, $3,698.84; Children's Service Bureau, $22,412.05; Family Welfare Association, $59,940.06; Girls' Service Club, $3,361.49; Harmarville Convalescent Home, $7,080.66; Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Women, $2,197.31; Legal Aid Society of Pittsburgh, $3,400; Mothers' Pension League, $2,424.58; Holy Family Orphanage, $12,674.67; Pittsburgh and Allegheny Milk and Ice Association, $8,000; Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies, $6,106.66; Pittsburgh Home for Babies, $3,238.80; Pittsburgh Housing Association, $5,925.34; Pittsburgh Skin and Cancer Foundation, $6,300; Pleasant Hill Farm Association, $3,750; Public Charities Association, $6,000; Public Health Nursing Association, $23,204.06; St. Anthony's Orphanage, $5,512.76; Sewickley Fresh Air Home, $9,733; Soho Community House, $4,795.76; Urban League of Pittsburgh, $4,361.63; Woods Run Settlement, $9,885.61.

PEABODY CLUBS IN RACE TO GET FREE RADIO FIRST

Rivaling the Tech Club at Peabody High School is the Radio Club, which claims it will be able to earn a radio ahead of the first group.

Gladdened at the tidings that a free radio was available to them, Elmer Wolf, advisor of the group, and Gilbert Collins, its president, have organized these radio fans and are working after school every day to secure the set.

The boys are sure of the value of radio to the schoolroom.

Collins told the workers at a meeting yesterday that, with continued effort, they would have a radio installed ahead of their rival, the Tech Club, which is working hard to beat them. Every member was asked to pledge himself to bring in additional 13-week orders for the Sun-Telegraph.

Mr. Wolf says he plans to place the set at the disposal of the entire school whenever important programs are scheduled. He is enthusiastic about the eight tube Atwater Kent with its Electro-dynamic loud speaker, claiming that it is equal to any use to which a school can put it.

Order blanks in this campaign may be had at the Sun-Telegraph, at any Stanley-Warner Brothers' theater, and in the delivery packages of Donahoe's United Laundries or Haller Bakeries.

One hundred twenty-five subscriptions will plac this $138.50 Atwater Kent in any school or schoolroom. The campaign, sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and Stanley-Warner Brothers' theater, will, with the co-operation of the citizens of the Pittsburgh district, place a set in every schoolroom in the district.

Knoxville Minister To Continue Series

Don Carlos Learns That Phillips Is Alive After Wandering All Night

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting, young literary aspirant, sees George Phillips, a neighbor, embracing Eve Carson, his marriage to whom has been kept secret. When he faces the couple Eve tells him he is intruding. Phillips refuses to leave and he battles with Don Carlos. In the struggle Phillips is knocked unconscious, after which Don Carlos leaves, believing his rival dead.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.

OUT in the quiet night, Don Carlos plunged into the hills surrounding Sausalito.

On and on he wandered; ofttimes stumbling over fallen branches. He clenched his hands together, fought the air with them; tears streaming down his cheeks. When a strong man weeps, even the gods refuse to listen . . .

What had aroused this murderous mood in him tonight at the sight of Eve in Phillips' arms? Why hadn't he been able to listen to some explanation—for explanation there must have been?

His mind raced on and on; thoughts hurting him with their very intensity.

Suddenly the answer came to him.

Tonight had shown him that he could no longer trust himself. And coming home on the ferry, he had such good news to tell Eve . . . that his last bit of work had been accepted—that there would now be the means to provide their home . . . the dainty things to clothe Eve . . .

But now—this was the end. Unfaithful though Eve had been, he could not expect her to carry on with him.

He would not face her again.

The dawn found him still walking wildly about the hillsides, which were dotted with the bloom of acacia and dogwood and bay tree.

Well, he didn't have anything to say—yet. Without a backward glance, he took the worn piece of luggage and went down the path to catch the next ferry for San Francisco.

Don Carlos checked the worn bit of baggage at the Ferry Building and then wandered idly about. He was still numb from the reactions of the night . . . dimly he felt that he should be calling Eve up to find out whether George Phillips was still alive . . . and yet he did nothing about it.

It wasn't fear that held him back . . . maybe it was . . . he didn't know . . . oh . . . if only some one would do his thinking for him . . . he was so tired . . .

Meiggs Wharf lying directly before him . . . the Fisherman's Delight . . . as it was called . . . it held a peculiar fascination even for his tired self. It seemed to him as though these fishermen in their apparently prosaic lives absorbed so much of the real romance of life in their daily journeys out the Golden Gate.

There was nothing apparently for him to do . . . without money. Unless he called Eve up . . . and that he could not force himself to do.

A ship's officer in natty blue uniform passed him; glanced at him indifferently once or twice, then with eager, intent look.

Dick Randolph whistled to himself. A dead knockout for a romantic Don Carlos—that huddled figure on the bale, or else his eyes deceived him. No, he couldn't forget that handsome devil's face—the coalblack hair, the classic profile . . . He had been too good looking—for a man.

"By the great horn-toed Prophet!" he shouted. "It's old Don Carlos himself." He gave the huddled figure a thump between the shoulders.

Don Carlos was stirred from his lethargy.

"Dick! Dick Randolph! Where on earth did you drop from? I haven't seen you since those days in Paris."

Randolph and he had been roommates in Paris during those few happy years. Dick, who never took anything seriously, not even himself. He had been a fine background for Don Carlos' serious nature.

"Treading the great highways of life, old boy; only to be more exact, I'm traveling the great ocean ways these days. I'm purser on one of the boats between here and the Orient. And they thought they'd make the world's best architect out of me over in Paris! The joke's on them, for I'm having a great time. And yourself? If you don't look like Old Man Gloom himself! Who did this to you—some woman?"

"Do I look henpecked as that?" And then hastily changing the subject, "Tell me about yourself. It would be a lot more interesting to me," he said bitterly.

"I've got a better idea than that, Don," reverting back to the old college nickname. "I know a slant-eyed Chink who serves the best gin-fizzes this side of Shanghai. Come over to my stateroom, and I'll have Chan Lee mix us one. He's a sort of bodyguard for the officers. If we get one or two under our belts we may tell each other our right names."

They went over to Dick's room, where he rang a bell, and soon a bland, smooth-faced Chinese boy came in answer to his call.

"Chan Lee, this friend of mine is feeling low. What can you do for him?"

"Me fixee him allee light," he grinned.

Soon the cool drinks were ready.

"Boy, this just hits the spot!" said Dick. "Felt a little low myself this morning after getting off the ship. Had a rotten trip up; all the passengers were seasick; and as a result, cranky as the devil. If you could only tell me where all the fool people dig up the asinine questions they ask the purser! I deserve the laurel-wearth."

Randolph was on his third gin-fizz; his tongue unloosened and he had Don Carlos forgetting his dark mood.

"The best part, Don, old boy, is that when it comes to pretty girls, a purser has the pick of the ship. A gay life, and a speedy one."

"Don't ever mention women to me," said Don Carlos. "I'm sick of the whole mess."

"Say, what's biting you? So that's the way the wind blows? What's happened?"

"Oh, Dick, I'm in an awful jam."

"Want to talk about it?" for Don's tone had sobered Dick at once.

"Yes—no—oh, I don't know. I'm nearly crazy—thinking about it. Dick, I think I've killed a man." It was out, the whole pitiful story, in gasping disconnected sentences.

"Ye Gods! I should leave the Orient and get mixed up in something like this. Say, Don, this sounds serious."

"It is." Cold finality in his tones now.

"I'll stand by you—you know that, old chap." Dick's hand on his shoulder. Gay, fun-loving old Dick, who would never desert a pal. "But about this girl, who was the cause of it. Tell me, was she worth it?"

"I thought so. You see, I loved her. But now—I don't know. Perhaps it was only her beauty that captivated me; I'm beginning to think now that I never knew the real Eve. But I was plugging hard at my stories, trying to win fame for her sake . . . I suppose she got impatient waiting for success . . . she wanted furs and cars and a beautiful home . . . thought that Phillips could give them to her, I guess. His father is wealthy . . . And so—" the whole story was reconstructed for Dick in a few sentences by romantic Don Carlos—who had always been in love with beauty—whether of a sunset, a poem—or a lovely woman.

"The first thing we've got to find out is whether Phillips is alive. Give me his phone number and I'll call up the house."

"Dick, you wouldn't! That certainly is sporting of you. I had thought I should call Eve, and then, I guess I was afraid . . ."

Dick left him sitting at the table, and entered a telephone booth on the wharf. In a few moments he come out. He hurried to his stateroom.

"Cheer up, old man. Not as serious as it might be. Phillips' mother answered, and said her son was ill, but she hoped he would soon be better. I pretended it was about a business matter."

"Dick! It can't be true! It seems too good—so I haven't blood on my hands . . ."

Dick was of a practical turn of mind.

"Tell me, Don, how would you like to go to Honolulu?"

"Honolulu!"

"Dick, you're not kidding? But how would I get there—tell me that? I have no money."

DON RETURNS

By Eleanor J. Anselle

Daily Short Story

YOUNG MRS. WILLOWTON should have been happy. She had everything in life to make her so. But that sinister vulture, the past, or more precisely, the might have been, added a tinge of melancholy to the beauty of her face.

As she sat upon the veranda, the moonlight formed intricate patterns about her. It accentuated the ivory pallor of her skin and sent forth little shimmering rays from the gown that enveloped her tall slenderness. From the garden came the sweet heavy perfume of roses. It brought back memories—memories of just such a moonlit night, of—a rose garden—and of Don. Oh, the strange sweetness of that night before he had absconded.

Mr. Willowton came out of the doorway and walked to his wife's side. There was nothing small about Mr. Willowton, physically or otherwise. His features were irregular, but he possessed that inexplicable charm with which some plain men are endowed. As he looked down upon his wife, his face grew suddenly serious.

"Thinking of him again, Serene?"

The sound of her husband's voice startled the woman.

"Yes, George."

"Serene, you still—love him, despite all he has done?

"Yes."

"What if he should come back, what then? Have you thought of that?"

"Many times."

"What then?" he persisted.

"I—I don't know."

"But you must remember, you are my wife!"

A faint flush crept into her cheeks. "Really, George, you undervalue my sense of duty. You are aware of the condition under which I married you. I honor and respect you, but I can never love you."

George Willowton's voice took on a kinder, but sadder note.

"Forgive me, Serene. It is only that I want to make you happy. After all, it is so futile to go all over it again."

The man stopped to kiss the white passive brow. Serene pressed his hand in sympathy, as he sadly turned away.

When his figure had vanished into the house she suddenly lifted her eyes to the heavens. The sky was a clear blue black sparsely sprinkled with stars. But the moon gleamed, a silver hallow. The celestrial beauty about her should have filled Serene's soul with peace, yet it sent a mad wave of reminiscences, commingled with longing to her brain. She saw Don, the handsome, the impeccable lover, walking at her side, as she fixed her trusting eyes upon his face. The happy picture of her married life with him confronted her.

Suddenly, like a bomb, her happiness had been shattered, for the handsome, the gallant Don had left the jurisdiction of the state with $100,000 of other people's money. He left her to face the grilling questions of the police and newspaper reporters, who suspected her of knowing more than she did about the matter.

She was like a flower whose delicate petals had been mercilessly crushed. So bitter was Serene's disillusionment, that she divorced Don on the grounds of desertion. Then came George Willowton, a former suitor of hers. His offer of a home and protection in her great need seemed a blessing.

Now time had worn off the keen edge of her resentment toward Don and left it blunt. She only remembered his romantic handsomeness, their brief period of happiness, and his great arduor.

Slowly, the woman rose and glided down the stairs into the garden. She moved in and out of moonlight and shadow, moonlight and shadow. Suddenly, she paused, her heart beating wildly. The color slowly receded from her face. Serene betrayed no other emotion, but just stood there and stared. A tall, almost emaciated man came walking toward her. The moonlight added an unnatural pallor to his already cadaverous face. As he walked, his shaking hands clutched at the bushes for support. Their eyes met, yet neither uttered a word. By some magnetic power they seemed to be drawn together, and Serene was in Don's arms. She trembled as she clung to him, the tears coming into her eyes. For one heavenly moment she felt the safety and comfort of his embrace.

For an hour they walked about the garden. Together they enjoyed the silver splendor of the moon, the fragrance of the roses and each other's companionship. Strangely enough, neither spoke of the past. They seemed to be grasping at the joy of the fleeting present. Yet in the back of Serene's mind, there were a thousand questions.

"Serene, I've come for you," Don was saying. "You must come with me. I love you and need you more than ever." His lips were temptingly close to her own, and his voice rang out with throbbing earnestness.

"It is too late, Don. You know I am already married to George Willowton."

"He was always after you, the beast!"

"You forget that he is my husband!" Serene spoke with dignity.

"What does it matter? You love me, don't you, Serene? Come with me, please. I risked so much to get here. The police are on my trail now.

Serene saw herself the wife—no, not the wife—the mistress of a fugitive, continually fleeing from justice. She shuddered.

"Oh, Don, you should never have come. Please come into the house." Her voice was filled with alarm.

No one was inside. George Willowton had apparently gone out. Serene nervously paced about, clenching her hands. What could she do if the police should come? Just then came a loud knocking upon the door. Serene felt her heart pounding. Don turned ashy.

"Serene," Don cried. "It's the police. They've found me. Can you hide me?"

Again came the loud knocking. Serene snatched Don's hand and lead him down to the cellar. She glanced through the small window, once, twice, three times. No one was in sight. Cautiously, she raised the sash.

"Don, please go before they surround the house."

Don crawled through the window, and without a backward glance vanished into the night. Serene hastened to answer the knocking at the door, racking her brain for some suitable excuse for the delay. As her fingers clutched the knob, her heart beat furiously. There stood George Willowton wearing a cheerful grin.

"I forgot my key, dear. Why did it take you so long to answer the door? Did you forget it was the maid's night off?"

Behold, my Beloved ariseth in the morning at the crowing of the alarm clock, and his soul is full of pep!

My Beloved heareth the call of the Radio, and springeth to obey its summons, as a rookie to the reveille.

He doeth his obeisance to the sun of morning and faithfully performeth all the sacred rites of his setting-up exercises.

HELEN ROWLAND

Lo, twenty times doth he bend, touching his toes, for his stomach's sake, and twenty times doth he bend backward for his figure's sake.

He ariseth upon his toes, and Adeline Genee was not more conscious of her lightness, nor Ann Pennington more aware of her grace.

He swingeth his torso in circles and is THRILLED with his own litheness and suppleness. He panteth with eagerness and purreth with self-approval. He is a WOW, in his own eyes!

My Beloved approacheth the cold shower with brave whistling; his eye is full of determination, though his heart be trembling.

He flincheth not, though his teeth chatter. He stilleth his groaning with song.

Yea, as the bobolink, he singeth blythely in his bath—but his voice is sadder than tears. He is enthralled at his own fortitude and puffed up with pride in his own devotion to duty. He shall BOAST of it to his weaker brothers!

FOOD OR FLATTERY

Drawn By

WHICH DOES THE GOD CUPID LOOK MOST WITH FAVOR UPON?

EVERY young girl, after a certain youngness, at which time LOVE and PRINCE CHARMING are in another world from the bare thought of FOOD and FLATTERY, is past, secretly believes one or the other of those necessities to be the way to the heart of the man she has chosen to love.

Because why?— Doesn't Auntie Flora lean forward fatly, a generous and immovable seated column, the snows of long-married years drifted on her crown of long hair coiled neatly like a Danish coffee ring—lean forward and say, declare and state, that the way to a man's heart "is by the way of his 'stomach,' and back up to his heart again, instead of by the more direct route of snick! right into his heart through the skin from outside? FOOD," says Auntie Flora.

And doesn't another auntie, Nora, tap the ash from her cigaret with a sophisticated ring finger, arch her painted brows, cross her gaunt knees and announce that the quickest time to the citadel of ANY Jim's heart—and everybody that has an ounce of brains knows it—is by the way of Flattery? Soft words, shining-eyed admiration, devoted attention, lavished at the feet of his wisdom, says Auntie Nora.

Dark Gloriette hooks an arm about blonde Deliciosa's neck and confidently assures her that it is one road or the other to Love's hearth and home.

"There are two trails to that young man's house, and myself, I am taking the one that I scatter with roses of incense calculated to keep Lothario, once I have won him, by my side," says Gloriette.

"What do you know?" marvels Deliciosa. "Well, if that's true, and it sounds exactly like my Auntie Flora, who's been married a hundred years or so, I am going to choose the festive pathway of Food. I shall learn to make Yorkshire pudding and popovers, lemon meringue pie that is not just office paste with an egg on top, but the real thing—like gold—with tiny globules of syrup, like topaz beads, clustering through the browned frosting; rolled roast, baked beans, homemade biscuit as light as nothing at all— I'll bet that will keep my Prince Charming at home more surely than any flowers of Flattery."

"Bouquets for me!" persists Gloriette; "fixed attention, never interrupting his stories, admiring him in December just as I do in May, doting upon my own husband's genius above any other; these gifts will make him forget my cooking and entangle his wandering feet!"

"FOOD," says Deliciosa.

"FLATTERY," says Gloriette.

"Both," says the born Devotee.

"Neither," says the Free Spirit.

What do YOU think?

Horoscopes

Sunday, May 12

SUNDAY'S horoscope, although showing active conditions, may not be pronounced a fortunate one. There will be restlessness, possibly ill-advised moves, setbacks and disappointments, with much to dishearten and overcome. There may be some pleasant social or domestic compensations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a lively year, but one which it is doubtful if there will be much progress or satisfaction. There may be obstacles and delays and possibly an unwelcome upheaval or change.

A child born on this day may be restless and wayward, albeit fairly active and clever. It may be called on to surmount many obstacles in life and should be given a fitting education to meet this condition.

Out of Eternity this new day is born; into Eternity at night will return.—Carlyle.

Monday, May 13

MONDAY'S astrological forecast may be interpreted as of contradictory force. While employment and its rewards, and finances generally may be fairly gratifying, yet on the whole the personal relations may have a disconcerting or counteracting influence. It would be well to pay close attention to matters in hand and maintain tranquillity and harmony within.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly lively and prosperous year in business and employment, but there may be offsetting or annoying personal relations to be harmoniously adjusted.

A child born on this day may be bright, ambitious and be fairly successful, but may have distresses or inharmonies of a personal nature to combat.

'Tis not by wishing that we gain the prize, nor yet by ruing.—James W. Foley.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Lowered Vitality Is an Invitation to Germs

WHY is it so hard to shake off a cold? Why does the pesky thing hang on so long?

Well, in the first place, you never have a cold unless you are run down in health. Of course, I do not mean you never take cold unless you are in the midst of a terrible decline.

DR. COPELAND

As a matter of fact, you have been unusually well for months, and then suddenly you develop a hard cold. But there must have been a few days when you were below par.

Loss of sleep is a real factor. Excessive fatigue is another. Tired people are always in danger if disease germs are lurking in the neighborhood. The worst of it is, too, those unfriendly germs are on watch in every neighborhood.

There appears to be some sort of a relationship between constipation and the onset of a cold. When there is fermentation in the bowel, with the bacterial growth that always accompanies it, there is direct lowering of the vitality. This permits the causative agent of the cold to break through the defenses of the body. The sneezing begins almost at once.

Following an infection of this sort, there is more or less fever; the appetite declines, the sleep is disturbed, and, all in all, the victim feels mean and miserable.

These uncomfortable effects are added to the original state of lowered health. You can see why we should regard the cold as much more serious than we are inclined to do. It is a mistake to disregard it.

But we are not at the end of our dismal recital. We must consider what else the miserable cold can do to us.

The bones of the face are hollow. There are spaces of considerable size, and bone that is spongy in its nature. These cavities open into the nose and are lined with mucous membrane, continuous with the membrane lining of the nose.

If you have a cold, the narrow passageways between the large openings of the nose and these hollow spaces, may be considerably swollen. In consequence, the mucus which forms within the cavities, fills them to overflowing. That is where the tremendous quantities of mucus come from when the cold "ripens."

In these dark, warm places, in the jelly like secretion, the germs revel and multiply. If they happen to be pus-producing germs, there is danger of extension of their activities. Then the ears and bronchial tubes are in danger. There may be an ear-ache and even mastoid trouble. There may be bronchitis and it is not surprising if broncho-pneumonia develops.

Whenever germs lodge in a part of the body and thrive there, it is to be expected that poisons, toxins, will develop. Those help to lower the vitality and depress the health.

You see that a cold comes on because the vital processes are low. It serves to make them still lower. So, unless you take pains to get rid of your cold, it will keep you miserable for weeks.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Prince Georges Has Plan to Quell Any Scheme of Owens

I GAVE Prince Georges eager attention as he told me that he thought he had "drawn the fangs" of Charles Owen whom he had recognized as a man supposed to be a native of Trees, with a Treek name, but who was barred from both that country and Transvania for some reason evidently a cogent one, known to the young nephew of the King of Trees.

"I made him understand," the young prince went on grimly, "that I was going to — what do you say over here—'keep cases' on him every minute from now on. He knows that I have only to report his whereabouts to certain interested people—in Trees and Transvania—in order to make it extremely unpleasant for him. He also understands that if Queen Olga, of Transvania, finds out where her daughter is, before the Princess Olina gets ready to notify her mother herself, I shall make that report upon him at once, whether or not he himself in instrumental in giving the queen that information. It is to his interest now to keep her secret inviolable, and I am sure that he will do so."

There was a grimness in his tone and his expression boded no good to Samuel Brixton's half-brother. The Princess Olina was safe from Charles Owen, but there was no assurance that Lillian would not be made a victim of the mysterious scheme which I was sure he and Samuel Brixton were concocting. I trampled underfoot an innate reluctance to confide anything of my affairs or Lillian's to a comparative stranger, and put a hesitant question.

"Is that knowledge of him anything which anyone else in fear of him could use?"

He looked at me searchingly and lowered his voice still farther.

"Yes, it is. No," as I started to speak. "Don't tell me anything. There isn't time. It is enough for me that you need the knowledge for yourself or a friend. As soon as I get the opportunity, I will tell you all about it, but until then I will give you a talisman which will enable you to deal with this—Mr. Owen—"

He stopped, then bent over my hand, kissing it as if taking his leave.

"Just say one word, looking at him significantly. It is 'Kenellos.'"

He repeated it twice, then as he straightened himself and released my hand, he murmured, "Did you get it?"

I nodded, smiling.

"I am so happy to hear you say it," I said in my best hostess manner, and then Princess Olina and Noel made their adieux to me. I noticed that Olina, by a number of clever feminine artifices, kept Noel in such close attendance upon her that he had no chance for a word aside with Mary.

We all went out to the veranda to see them off, and when they had gone Mary looked at Ronald and Marion standing together near the end of the veranda, and then said demurely:

"It's too bad there isn't a moon, Marion."

"Why?" Marion turned a puzzled face toward her.

"Then you could show Roland and Carolyn the moon on the ocean. It's such a short drive down that it wouldn't tire them too much even after this party."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Paper Napkins Taboo

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a dinner, when cocktails and appetizers are served in the living room before dinner, and black coffee is served in the same room after dinner, is it necessary that fresh napkins be given the guests for the appetizers and then coffee both?

MRS. R. L. D.

THE custom is to provide tiny napkins for the guests, as the appetizers and cocktails are served in the living room before dinner. The napkins are usually placed on the tray on which are the canapes, and the guests takes a napkin, as he or she takes a canape. These napkins are usually exceptionally sheer, often with lace edges, and are very small.

It is not the custom to serve napkins of any kind with the afterdinner coffee that is served in the living room. By no means should we serve paper napkins. This would be terrible! Paper napkins are meant only for picnics and "such like" informality.

Points on Dining

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to eat food served on crackers with the fingers and not with a fork?

2. How should salt be taken when served in small dishes?

3. What should be used in breaking the shell of an egg—that is, when the egg is to be eaten from the shell—a knife or a fork?

4. Is it proper to use a knife and fork when eating waffles, or should only a fork be used?

5. Is it proper to place both hands in the finger bowl at the same time, or only one at a time?

PUZZLED.

IF the crackers are of the regulation small size, it is more convenient usually to eat them in the fingers.

2. With the small salt dishes, there should be placed the tiny spoons, and with these the salt is taken and placed on the side of the plate. This is better than to sprinkle the salt on the food.

3. A knife.

4. Either is correct. It depends on which you prefer—to me it is more convenient and agreeable to use both the knife and fork.

5. Dip the fingers of one hand, at a time, into the finger bowl.

Hospitality

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I am acquainted with a young man and see him quite often. Is it proper for me to ask him to call at my home?

2. Should he ask me out first?

MAUD.

YES, if you know him well enough. Ideally, the way to do, when extending the hospitality of your home in this kind of circumstance, is to form a table of bridge, or several tables, and invite the young man to the party. Then it will seem less two-sy. Or ask several friends to come in for tea on Saturday or Sunday afternoon, and invite him to join you then. This gives the desired casual "won't-you-drop-in-for-tea?" aspect to the invitation!

2. Not necessarily. In its essence, hospitality shouldn't be so calculated a thing.

SPORT COMMENT

BUCS WIN FIVE OF LAST SIX GAMES

WINNING baseball games at the Phillies' joke park by basketball scores such as that of yesterday is almost as much a matter of luck as of superior class. It's the toughest spot in the major leagues for pitchers, and it's generally the club with the larger supply of hurlers that comes out the winner in a competitive bombardment of the close fences. You never know when you're safe there, as witness what the Pirates did to the Phillies yesterday after being left seven runs in the rear in the first inning, just as the Quakers themselves slaughtered Lee Meadows and overcame an eight-run Pittsburgh lead back in 1924. All that a pitcher can do there is throw the ball and pray.

Coburn Jones.

But a victory is a victory, nevertheless, and the Pirate triumph in the first game of the Quaker City series was all the more gratifying because it was achieved after the Bucs had seemingly been put hopelessly out of the running in a single inning. The conditions under which the game was won after Coburn Jones' timely pinch triple in the eighth put Pittsburgh in the lead spoke more for the Corsairs than did the victory itself. It takes fighting qualities and a never-give-up spirit to turn a trick like that, and the demonstration that they possess those traits gives the Rovers' stock for the season a considerable boost.

IT WAS no indication of poor pitching form on the part of Steve Swentoic that he was driven to cover in the first inning. That's apt to happen to any pitcher in that bandbox park, even one who is accustomed to working there, as attested by the route of Claude Willoughby later in yesterday's game.

The Phils have played only 17 games this season and Willoughby has pitched in seven of them. Arthur Fletcher, former Phil manager, recently gave that as a reason why the Quakers may never be able to develop a good pitching staff. The hurlers are worked so often in a season's schedule of 77 games in the small park that they're soon ruined. The Bucs will have captured every series on the Eastern trip to date if they can repeat in Quakertown today. They bagged two out of three in both Boston and New York, have won five of their last six engagements and are above the .500 mark for the first time since the second day of the season.

AN OLD ring follower has bobbed up with an interesting description and some hitherto untold details of the 28-round battle between Jim Corbett and Joe Choynski, which took place on a boat near Benecia, Cal., in 1889. The men had met in Fairfax on May 30, but the police stopped the fight in the fourth round, and it was agreed to continue the battle on June 5.

A peculiar arrangement was made as to the number of men who would be permitted to witness the bout and the conditions under which they could be present. It was stipulated that each fighter should be allowed to have 15 men at the ringside, and that only those willing to contribute $200 each to a pool should be permitted to attend. This pool, with the $1,000 a side posted by the backers of the principals made the fight for $4,000 a side.

Jim Corbett.

CORBETT was attached to the Olympic Club, and Choynski, who later was to be a Pittsburgh resident and city boxing commissioner for a long time, represented the California Club. The latter organization offered every inducement to the boxers to meet in its arena, but Corbett steadfastly declined, and it was finally agreed to stage the battle on a boat. When the fighters arriver on the boat and prepared to go into action, it was discovered that there was only one set of large gloves available. Corbett, always a quick thinker, made what sounded like a magnanimous proposal by offering the big gloves to Choynski. He then donned skin-tight gloves himself.

THE result was that Corbett, with his skin-tight gloves, hacked Choynski's face to pieces, and the fight had to be stopped at the end of the twenty-eighth round because Joe's features were just a mass of pulp and he could not see out of either eye.

The men met again six weeks later in San Francisco, Corbett winning the verdict after a four-round bout. Jim then went on to fight Dave Campbell, Dominick McCaffrey, late Pittsburgher, Peter Jackson (a 61-round draw), Ed Kinney, Bill Spillings, Bob Caffrey and Joe Lannon prior to dethroning the mighty John L. Sullivan in New Orleans on September 7, 1892.

ONE of the greatest ball players in recent years, though he hasn't been in the spotlight as often as some others, will be honored in Cleveland this afternoon when the fans of that city pay tribute to Charley Jamieson, veteran Indian outfielder.

There have been few better than Jamieson. Always a remarkable fielder he has also ranked with American League's most consistent hitters. In the last 10 years he has finished below the .300 mark only twice, and in those years he came as close as .296 and .299.

Charley Jamieson.

JAMIESON is one of those great players whose worth was underestimated early in his career. Washington turned him over to the Athletics on waivers in 1917, and after the season of 1918 Connie Mack threw him in for good measure with Larry Gardner and Elmer Myers in a trade with Cleveland for Bobby Roth. Gardner, Myers and Roth are no longer in the majors, yet Jamieson is still carrying on, the oldest outfielder in the Barnard circuit in point of continuous service. It was said this spring that the Indian bosses might keep him in the the lineup out of sentiment alone, but he has held down the job on his merits. He batted safely in 10 straight gams before being lifted from seventh place to the lead-off position. The term "ball hawk" has been applied to various players who excelled in fielding, but in Cleveland Jamieson and "ball hawk" are synonymous to such an extent that recently, when an admirer mailed a letter bearing no other superscription or address than "The Ball Hawk," it was delivered to the Indian star without any delay.

YOU'VE got to hand it to Walter Hagen as an individual golf wizard and a marvel of durability and recuperative powers, regardless of what you thought of his judgment in the handling of the American team in the recent Ryder Cup matches. Several times they have counted him out, or as being on the downward path, but always he has come back in surprising fashion, as he did yesterday in winning the British open for the fourth time. After being overwhelmed by George Duncan a week ago he didn't look to have a chance.

Hagen now has 11 major championships to his credit in a remarkable career that has covered a stretch of 15 years. In addition to his four victories in the British open, he has captured the United States open twice and the United States professional championship five times. Only Bobby Jones among the modern golfers approaches him. Jones has won eight titles—the United States amateur twice, and the United States open and British open twice each.

WITH the Preakness over, the horse racing world will now turn its attention to the Kentucky derby, to be run a week from today at Churchill Downs. Speculation runs chiefly as to what chance the front horses in yesterday's classic at Pimlico will have in the second big event.

COLLEGIANS ADD TO BIG PROGRAM

By JESS CARVER

The flash of legs and the thud of steel-spiked shoes on the cinders; the plop of the falling discus and the shimmering flight of the iron-tipped javelin; the dull ker-flop of the shot, and withal the chatter and bustle of a big track meet will mark the day's college and high school sport program in Pittsburgh. Poetic, eh?

Bill Cox

Featured by the staging of the annual W. P. I. A. L. championship meet at the Stadium, along with a dual meet between Pitt and Penn State and a triangular one betwixt the Panther and State yearlings and Kiski, the most attractive card of the season will be presented today. Besides the full program at the Stadium, Carnegie Tech and Wash-Jeff will engage in a dual tussle in the Tartan Bowl. The Dukes are in Bethany, W. Va., for a clash with Furman Nuss' Bisons; Geneva and Grove City tie up in Beaver Falls; Westminster meets Allegheny in Meadville, and West Virginia restores track to Wesleyan's spring program after 16 years of absence by meeting the Bobcats in a dual meet at Buckhannon.

SCHOOL MEETS CARDED

Scholastic meets at Greensburg and Carmichaels and the annual Penn State interscholastics at State College complete the track card. The Westmoreland County schools will fight it out in Greensburg, and those of Greene County at Carmichaels.

South Brownsville, Monongahela and Beaver Falls are expected to make the going extra tough for the defending W. P. I. A. L. champion, Washington, in the big school carnival here. Of the three challengers, Monongahela looms as being the most likely to replace Hank Day's institution as league champion.

Bill Cox, veteran distance star, will lead a hopeful Penn State squad here for the battle with Pitt—hopeful, it might be added, of winning the fifteenth meet out of 17 contested with the locals.

BIG FIVE READY

But Pitt's "Big Five," Capt. Pickard, Pete Bowen, Don Gwinn, Everette Utterback and Ed Knoblock, encouraged by their triumph over West Virginia Wednesday and in splendid condition, will test to the limit the mettle of the none-too-strong Lions. Bowen, regarded as the second fastest college sprinter in the East, will make an assault on Frank Shea's long-standing quarter-mile record of 47 3-5 seconds. He will also run in the century and furlong dashes.

The Stadium program got under way promtly at 10 o'clock this morning, with the running off of the triangular meet and the staging of the qualifying heats and trials of the W. P. I. A. L. competition. Pitt, with a well-balanced team, is favored to end the long reign of Penn State in track today.

Three tennis matches, one of which is carded for the city, enhances the college program. Carnegie Tech's varsity team will meet

Clark Sets Two Major League Records

Earl Clark, playing center field for the Boston National League club, set two new world major league outfield records in yesterday's game against Cincinnati. He hung up a new mark for outfield putouts, with 12 to his credit in a nine-inning game, and boosted the record for total chances accepted to 13. He had one assist in addition to his 12 putouts. The old record for putouts was 11, held by Max Carey, Johnny Mostil, Dick Harley, Hap Felsch, Topsy Hartsel, Harry Shaffer, Joe Hornung and Tom O'Brien, and the record for total chances accepted was 13, held by Felsch and Mostil, each of whom had 11 putouts and one assist.

CAREY FLOPS TO M'TIERNAN

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Chalk up another unsatisfactory performance by Johnny Carey, of Erie, in a local ring.

He was counted out twice in the second round of his scheduled 10-round main bout with Jack (Buck) McTiernan, of Swissvale, before a packed house in the Moose Temple last night for what finally constituted a knockout for the records, but really was a masterly job of quitting cold to an opponent who outclassed him so far that Carey was scared stiff and early sought the easy way out. He probably has made his final appearance in a Pittsburgh arena.

The bout had gone only about a minute when McTiernan dumped Carey with a looping right over the ear for a count of nine, which Carey took supporting himself along the ropes near McTiernan's corner. Late in the round he went down again as both connected with rights to the chin, but this time he fell into the ropes and bounded up without a count.

DOWN FOUR TIMES

After a little more than a minute of sparring in the second round, McTiernan sent in a hard left to the body that made Carey drop his guard and a few moments later another body blow, well above the danger line, brought a yell from Carey's corner followed by a yowl of foul from Carey, who was quick to take the cue. He started to sag as if he had been struck a mortal blow in the groin, but when the referee rightly ignored the claim, he straightened up. McTiernan rushed in and nailed him with a right to the jaw and he went down for the third time in the short fight and carefully rolled over on his back and closed his eyes, to all intents and purposes through for the evening.

At the count of seven, Carey had not stirred or batted an eyelid and then he suddenly changed his mind and began to shake himself together and start to get up. Before he could regain a standing position, the referee had completed the count. By this time McTiernan was at his side, having left his corner to help pick up the remains.

The fact that McTiernan had not remained in his corner gave Carey's manager a chance to yell about another sort of a foul and protest the knockout. Commissioner Havey Boyle listened to his plea, and, with the idea of giving the crowd a run for its money uppermost in his mind, asked McTiernan if he wanted to finish the bout up decisively to

Homans Medalist In Lido Tourney

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Eugene Homans, young Princeton student and holder of the metropolitan amateur championship, won the medal in the qualifying round of the annual Lido spring golf tournament yesterday after he had tied with Eddie Held, former national public links titleholder, with 74. The low scores decided to match cards rather than play off for the medal and Homans won with a 4 at the second hole where Held had taken 5. Mr. T. Stuart, of St. John's College, was third with 76. ROUTIS BEATEN BY CANZONERI

CHICAGO, May 11.—(AP.)—Before a record smashing crowd of 25,000, Tony Canzoneri, former world featherweight champion, was awarded an unpopular decision over Andre Routis, present 126-pound titleholder, in their 10-round bout in the Chicago Stadium last night.

The battle was witnessed by the greatest throng that ever saw an indoor boxing show in America. The gross receipts were around $90,000, a record gate for Chicago at popular prices.

VON PORAT VICTOR

The decision did not deprive Routis of his championship as the match was fought above the 126-pound weight limit. The verdict, however, was unanimous with Eddie Purdy, the referee agreeing with Phil Collins and Ed. Klein, the judges. Routis scaled 127¾ pounds when they weighed in, with Canzoneri tipping the beam at 129½.

Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, bounded back into the ranks of heavyweight contenders by knocking out Jack Demave, of Hoboken, N. J., in the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

Paul Pantaleo, of Chicago, a former prep football star, punched Jerry Sullivan, also of Chicago, into a state of helplessness to win a technical knockout in three rounds in the opening bout.

FINNEGAN STOPPED

Kurt Prenzel, a German welterweight, making his first American appearance, stopped Joe Jahelka, Chicagoan, in the fifth round on a technical knockout. Jahelka was floored four times in the fourth.

Armando Santiago, Cuban sharp shooter, scored a surprising victory in knocking out Honey Boy (Dick) Finnegan of Boston, a contender for the featherweight championship, in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round fight.

Santiago, who jumped into prominence by knocking out Joey Sanger a few months ago, smashed Finnegan to the floor a few seconds after the opening of the sixth round with a short right cross to the chin. Finnegan rolled over on his back and was counted out.

JONES STARS IN UPHILL BATTLE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Any club that can overcome a seven-run lead is capable of big things. So thought the Pirates today as they made ready to take on Burt Shotton's hard-hitting Quakers in the second and last game of the current series. The Buccos were seven runs in arrears at the end of the first round yesterday, but when the dust had cleared away in the ninth the Bushwhackers were on their way to the clubhouse with a victory, the score being 13 to 9.

Manager Bush announced this morning that he would rely on Carmen (Bunker) Hill to win today's game. The Corry giant has not been taking his regular turn on the mound this year, but he seems to be in pretty fair shape, and provided he can keep the Quaker sluggers from driving the rocket over the right field wall this afternoon, he stands a good chance of being returned a winner. Lefty Sweetland may hurl for the home team.

FIFTH WIN OF TRIP

By overcoming the Phils in the first game, the Pirates added their fifth triumph to their eastern string, they having lost only two games. Sunday will find the Pittsburghers in Reading for an exhibition game with Harry Hinchman's International League entry. After the contest is ended, the Pirates will hurry to New York to begin a three-game series with the Robins on Monday.

It would be hard to nominate the most important players in the Buccos' uphill victory over the Phillies, but Coburn Jones, gritty little utility infielder, probably would get a lot of votes on account of his timely three-bagger in the eighth.

Jones was one of several emergency men used by Manager Bush in the hectic battle. When the youngster came up in the eighth he found the tying and winning runs on the bases. Coburn batted for Rolly Hemsley and what he accomplished certainly did vindicate the judgment of Manager Bush in ushering him into the contest.

Jones tried to bunt and, failing, he slashed a three-bagger to center that scored three runs, and before the inning was over the Pirates had recorded six tallies or enough to insure the triumph, although the Pirates tallied two more in the ninth.

FAIL IN SUPPORT

Steve Swetonic and Claude Willoughby were on the mound at the start of the game, but the native son in the Pirate lineup could not swing into his proper stride and, to make matters worse, his supporters acted like a flock of semi-pros having a bad afternoon. In the midst of the mess, Klein rapped a homer over the right field wall, seven runs going over before Ervin Brame eventually retired the side.

Brame was a kingpin pitcher from the first to the eighth, when a wild toss put him in a little jam. Manager Bush decided that Brame had been through enough and Hill was rushed to the mound. Carmen retired Fresco Thompson, but when he pitched one ball to Frank O'Doul, with two on the sacks, Pilot Donie stopped play long enough to get Larry French into action. French fanned O'Doul when a homer would have tied up the game. The Buccos then went out and made two more tallies and Larry held the enemy to one run in the ninth.

The call for emergency men gave the Pirates a mixed lineup at the

PITT, DUKES ON LINKS

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The district intercollegiate golf season was opened officially today, inaugurating competition that has been pretty close to, if not dead for the last three or four years.

The Universities of Pittsburgh and Duquesne are having a real match of it this morning over the links of the Highland Country Club, having started at 9:30 o'clock.

Sam Parks, Jr., Sheedy, Underwood, Friedman and McMurray are representing Pitt, while Kelleher, McCarthy, Favo, Factor and Ebert are playing for the Dukes.

The Youghiogheny and Castle Shannon country clubs are officially and formally opening their doors to the 1929 golf and social season today. Big programs of activity are slated at both. Each club is anticipating a more successful year than ever before.

Youghiogheny members are playing on a course only slightly altered, and Castle Shannon members are getting acquainted with two brand new holes.

Schenley High School continued its rush toward the City League baseball laurels yesterday when it defeated Allegheny Vocational, 6 to 3, thereby keeping its slate clean. The game was marred by an injury to Bobby Sproul, North Side southpaw, who had his right hand split by a hard line drive from Moran's bat in the third frame.

WESTINGHOUSE WINS

Westinghouse easily won over Ralston High, 13 to 2, on the Silver Lakers' diamond Matoney again was on the mound, effectively holding the opposition throughout.

Allegheny High was nosed out by Carrick, 13 to 11, in a free-hitting game that went eight innings, or one more than the regulation number. Three homers were registered.

Peabody High literally walloped Fifth Avenue, 11 to 4, in their tilt at Moultrie Park, Lefty Masters hurling great ball for the East Enders. Lefty fanned 11 batsmen.

Turtle Creek Union set down Springdale High, 2 to 0, in a close game.

OLIVER BEATEN

Oliver High met defeat at the hands of South Hills, 11 to 10, in another slug-fest, while Langley held its Section 2 lead by trimming Perry High, 15 to 6.

Ford City High tripped Kittanning, 2 to 1.

avoid all argument about the finish and Buck readily agreed. Announcement was made that Carey claimed he had been knocked down by a blow struck on the break. This was entirely aside from the technical, if not ethical, question of what Buck was doing out of his corner before Carey decided to change his mind about quitting right away, but it served to pacify the crowd, and, after Carey had been given a rest of approximately five minutes during the wrangling, the bell was struck for the resumption of the second round, which had 1 minutes 35 seconds to go.

WALKOVER FOR BUCK

Given a second chance, Carey did not relish his task any more than before and McTiernan soon herded him into a neutral corner and battered him to the floor. This time Carey didn't roll over on his back, but crawled along the edge of the ring near the footlights and pretended to be trying to get up as he was counted out. Forty-two seconds of the round remained when the mess was over.

The bout was such a walkover for McTiernan that the great-looking prospect was not even extended. And the knockout victory, although twice achieved in one round, was so hollow that he probably never will point to it with pride.

McTiernan weighed 151½ pounds and Carey 148¼ for the "battle."

The semi-final was the best bout of the night. In it, Larry Madge, of Cleveland, defeated Johnny Piai, of Greenville, Pa., by reason of a knockdown for a count of five in the first round and another for nine in the second. After that Piai outboxed him and carried every round, but he couldn't make up the ground he had lost to his hard-hitting, tin-eared foe at the start. Piai weighed 151 pounds and Madge 146.

PALMER STOPS BRODD

Walter (Pedlar) Palmer, Negro light-heavyweight, of Columbus, O., managed by Luke Carney, made short work of Charley Brodd, of McKeesport, 180½, substituting for Frank Monroe, in the second bout, Brodd's seconds tossing in the towel with the big Swede on the floor in the first round. Palmer hammered the body and clipped the chin with both fists and Brodd never had a chance. They'll have to get a good one to beat the Pedlar, who scaled 175 pounds.

Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, 140 pounds, defeated Joey Reynolds, of the North Side, 144, subbing for Bob Collura, all the way in the six-round opener.

Al Grayber refereed all of the bouts and the judges were Joe (Brother) Keally and Jim McLaughlin. Ray Eberle did the announcing.

It is likely that Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth, who knocked out Dominick Profio at McKeesport on Thursday night, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, will meet in the main bout in the Moose ring next Friday night. Rudy won on a foul in their previous setto there.

Smith and Manos Retain A. A. U. Title

Frank Smith and Manos, Downtown Y. M. C. A. ran true to form yesterday afternoon in the final round of the Allegheny Mountain A. A. U. doubles handball championship at the Keystone A. C., and retained their title by winning over Bialis and Clark, P. A. A. The scores were 21-7 and 21-8.

The singles get under way Monday at 4:30 o'clock. Sixteen entries have been received.

LOCAL VOLLEY BALLERS WIN

CHICAGO, May 11.—Pittsburgh continued in the national volley ball championship by defeating Lansing, Mich., in a hotly contested two-game match here last night, 15-11, 15-12. Both teams had been defeated once and were fighting to remain in the tourney. Pittsburgh had little difficulty in the first game, although Lansing put up a dogged fight and clung to the winner's trail. Pittsburgh never had more than a two-point lead until the last part of the game, when Lang and Snyder sent over hard smashes for the final tallies.

Lansing threatened in the second game, piling up a 10-to-7 margin, when Pittsburgh rallied to tie the count at 10-all and then went into a 14-10 lead. Lansing rallied to cop two more points before Pittsburgh clinched the match. The lineups:

PITTSBURGH.	LANSING.
Snyder,	Hess,
Weibley,	Marshall,
Whaley,	Ludwig,
Stewart,	Bruger,
Meyer,	Diehl,
Land,	Spence.
Substitutes:

Pittsburgh is playing Eau Claire, Wis., this morning. The Pittsburgh sextet was beaten in its first round match when the Topeka Y. M. C. A. team, with a smashing offensive unequaled in the tourney won through in straight games, 15-7, 15-11.

As the tourney is being conducted on the double elimination plan, Pittsburgh went into a second-round game in the loser's bracket as a result of its defeat.

LOCAL NETTERS BEATEN

PRINCETON, N. J., May 11.—Walter Arensberg and Billy O'Loughlin, Pittsburgh representatives in the annual interscholastic tennis matches, which reached the quarter-finals stage here yesterday, were retired in the third and second rounds, respectively, after having safely racqueteered their way through the opening matches.

Arensberg drew a bye in the first round and bidded fair to go right on through to the late periods of the interscholastics when he decisively eliminated Bill Lewis, of Pingry, in his second-round match by 6-0 and 6-1. In the third round he met Fred Roll, of Mercersburg, however, and lost by 3-6 and 5-7.

The other Pittsburgh netman, O'Loughlin, defeated Bob Bigelow, of Huns School, by the wide margins of 6-4 and 6-1 in the first-round contests, but lost to Harold Blauer, of Lawrence High, in the second round. O'Loughlin was at the top of his form, with his service especially effective in the first set, and he took it at 6-2.

Bigelow seemed to get O'Loughlin's number at this point, and took the second set at 6-3 and overcame his opponent's rally in the third to win at 8-6.

finish, but while Manager Bush used pinch men in profusion, his movements were consistent with the best strategy. When the game ended, Grantham was on first, Jones at short, Bartell at second, Comorosky in left, and Linton behind the bat.

Grantham, by the way, was a Pittsburgh star of the fight with a homer and two singles. His four-sacker was good for three runs and his singles also were very timely blows.

Landis Not Through In Baseball Probe

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS.)—Apparently Judge Landis isn't yet through with his investigation of all alleged violations of the rules of baseball through "cover-ups." It was learned today that Eddie Wells, Yankee left hander, had been summoned to the judge's office a few days ago for questioning concerning the deal between the Washington Senators and Birmingham which kept Wells in the Southern Association last season. Clark Griffith and Bucky Harris, manager of the Senators last year, also were called into the conference.

Both Wells and the Yankees were innocent of any connivance in the matter and after investigation the judge could find no cause for action. In view of the fact that the Senators made no effort to bring Wells back again this year, the only possible cover-up could be in keeping the player available for the Birmingham Club last season, it was explained.

Kaplan Is Victor Over Wallace

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion, evened his score with Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, by winning the decision in a tame 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden last night. Wallace won their first battle by a knockout.

Jack Berg, a punching fury from England, stormed all over Bruce Flowers, New York Negro lightweight, to win a sensational 10-round decision.

Joe Glick, Brooklyn veteran, pounded out a victory over Louis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, in a rough 10-round opener.

League sandlot baseball was plentiful yesterday with a number of excellent games being layed. The warm rays of Old Sol, though in their last stages as the twi-light encounters were being played, brought out real crowds at almost every field.

St. John's visited the Pleasant Valley Smilers in the latter's opening City League game, and the teams battled to a six-inning 4-4 tie before darkness set in to end activity. Harry Little and Joe Hildorfer were guests at the opening exercises.

GRAYS VICTORS

In an American Negro League game at Forbes Field, the Homestead Grays were nosed out by the Original Cuban Stars, 7 to 6, although they started off with a bang, tallying three times in the first inning. The teams meet again here today and in a doubleheader in Cleveland tomorrow.

The Homestead Aces defeated Swissville, 4 to 2, and B. & O. was blanked 8-0, by the Dan Heeps in Greater Pittsburgh League games. The former was a good game, featured by triples of Duffy and Dober.

In the North Side League games, City View set down the Edwards Club, 10-2, and Twin City beat St. Boniface, 12-0, while in the Junior League, the Rooney Reds upset the R. L. Irwins, 9 to 3.

St. Michaels went scoreless in the West Penn League, St. Adelberts running up 11 runs in their five-inning mixup.

PITCHERS' BATTLE

A real pitchers' battle ensued between Longwood and Bell in the Crafton Church League, St. Philips copping the day's honors with a 1-0 advantage over Hawthorne.

Parnassus had a scare in the ninth when Tarentum started a rally in their Allegheny Valley League contest, but the rally fell short a run and it won, 3 to 2.

The Stowe Civics defeated the Braddock Kovals, 3 to 1, Conrad holding the Braddock nine to one hit.

The Whitaker Juniors blanked Esplen, 12 to 0, in a Minor League embroglio.

DR. FREELAND USES WINGS TO COP PREAKNESS

By JACK MALONEY
Staff Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, May 11.—Now I know why there were so many "Bromo Seltzer for Headache" sings along the road to Baltimore—and so do all others who bet on Minotaur yesterday to win in the Preakness.

To inform those who don't know, Minotaur was supposed to be a race horse—and he looked like one until he was within five yards of the finish line. Clip those five yards off the Preakness distance and you could have counted me winner of about $150 on the race.

But—oh, what a headache.

There I was, on the infield—there they came down the stretch—there was Minotaur in front, my horse.

A blanket could have covered the first five. It looked like a cinch. I began to root mightily for Minotaur to "stay there."

In the excitement I drifted into a crowd of Dr. Freeland's backers.

GETS RAZZED

Dr. Freeland is the goat who trimmed my Minotaur.

They didn't like my enthusiasm and had a hunch that pulling my hat down over my ears might shut me up. I didn't work.

I had no idea Dr. Freeland was in that race until the last 30 yards when things began to happen.

I saw a brown flash slip through between Minotaur and the rail, speed neck and neck with him for two jumps, and take wings for the the third and fourth jumps.

No one ever will convince me that the Doctor beat Minotaur with only four legs.

I'm willing to suspect anything—even the wings (water wings or what have you?).

WINS $52,325

And with the third and fourth jumps my headache began, they put Dr. Freeland a good length in front at the wire—the winner of $52,325. And Minotaur did a good job of chasing in the victor for $5,000 of the Preakness purse, with African right at his heels.

Halbert, the boy who rode Minotaur, thought Schaefer, on Dr. Freeland, fouled him in the running, and complained to the judges. For a moment I saw a glimmer of sunshine, but only to aggravate the headache, for the foul was ignored.

Seems like I never get the breaks.

But it could have been worse: With the $10 I bet on Minotaur to win I had also a $5 place ticket which made me better than even on the race.

I bought some Bromo-Seltzer with the net profit.

Kaufmann Bowlers To Banquet Tonight

The annual banquet of Kaufmann's Duckpin League will be held this evening, when prizes will be presented to the winning teams by the sponsors and league.

Kaufmann's Duckpin League terminated one of the most successful seasons of its history Wednesday evening. A good-natured rivalry has run high among the eight teams of the league and it has been anybody's race up to the very last game. The climax was reached by O. M.'s Blue Ribbons winning by a margin of two games. The final standing:

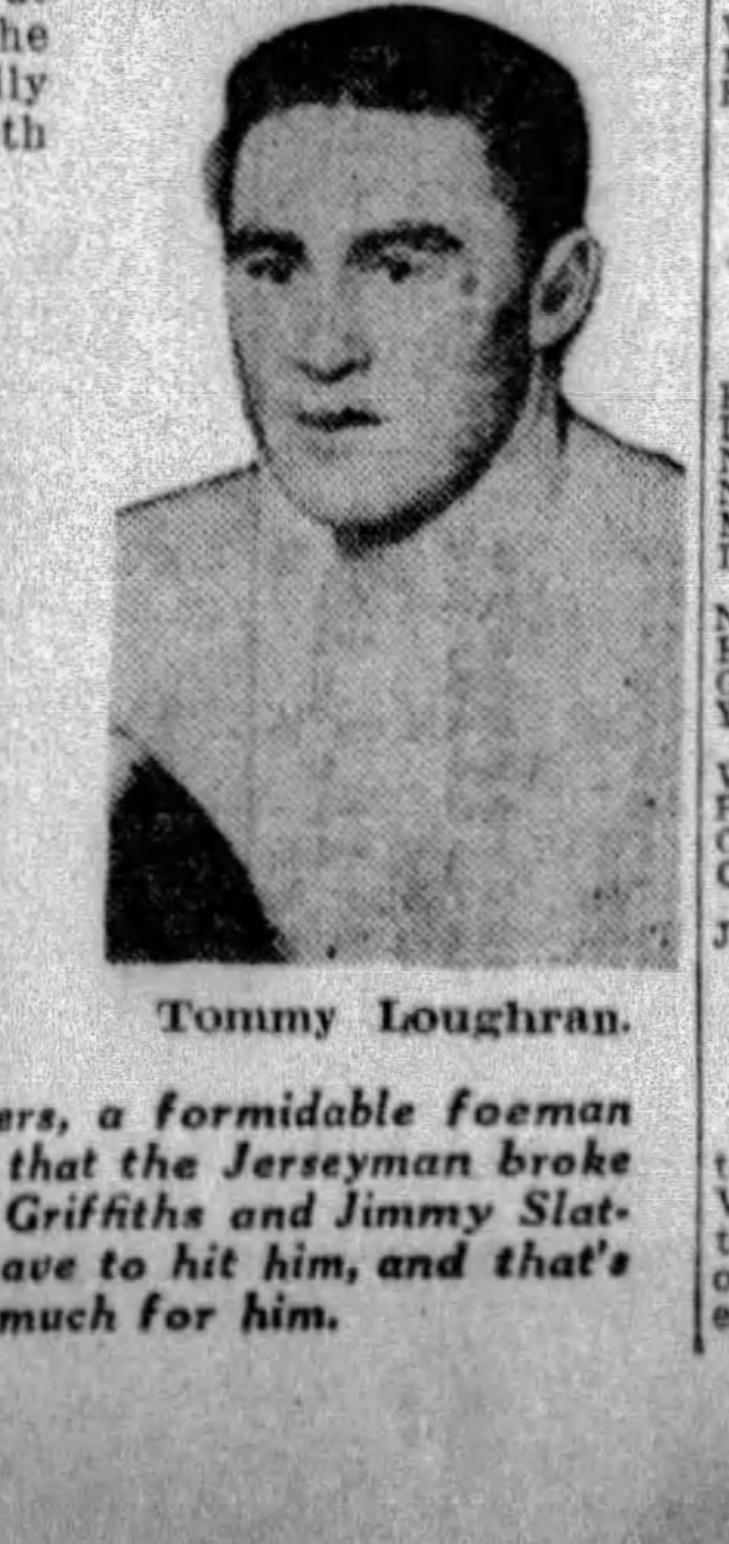
are Derby candidates and their form of yesterday would appear to make any one of them a possible victor. But history is against Dr. Freeland. Of all the horses that attempted the double feat, Billy Barton was the only one ever to win both the Preakness and the Derby.



Tommy Loughran.

FURTHER evidence of the right of Tommy Loughran to be ranked as one of the few real champions of modern times in so far as willingness to take on all worthy challengers is concerned, was contained in the readiness with which he signed to meet James J. Braddock for the light heavyweight title in New York on July 18 even before the promoters had obtained Braddock's signature. While other champions are dodging, sidestepping and keeping their titles safe by forcing opponents to come in overweight, Loughran goes right along meeting them all. In Braddock he will meet the most dangerous of the present lot of 175-pound championship contenders, a formidable foeman with a real wallop, as shown by the fact that the Jerseyman broke Pete Latzo's jaw and knocked out Tuffy Griffiths and Jimmy Slattery. But to knock out Loughran he'll have to hit him, and that's a contract that he probably will find too much for him.

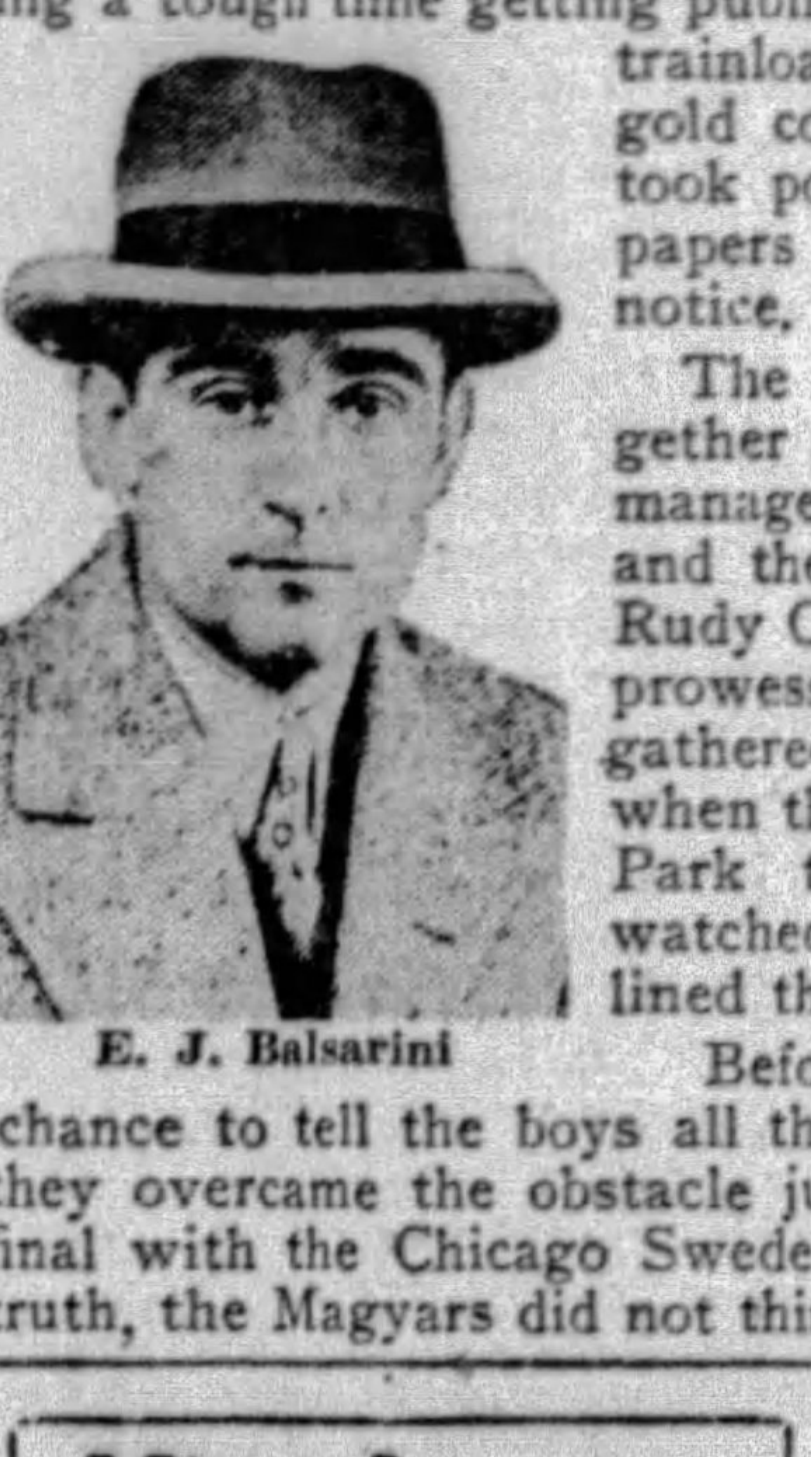
Heidelberg's Champions

(Inside story of the remarkable record compiled by the Heidelberg (Pa.) Soccer Club, which has won the National amateur championship twice in the last three years.)

By E. J. Balsarini
Manager of Heidelberg Soccer Club.

CHAPTER 4—A BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT.

THE arrival of the Heidelberg team in Cleveland was possibly a red letter day for Ohio soccer. The game was having a tough time getting publicity in Cleveland, but when two trainloads of fans wearing the green and gold colors of Heidelberg arrived and took possession of the city, the newspapers there began to sit up and take notice.



E. J. Balsarini

The Magyars had gathered together a good club, Hoffman, now the manager, was playing center forward, and the star fullback was the famous Rudy Orquist, now dead. News of the prowess of the all-America club I had gathered had reached the Magyars, and when the game got under way at Luna Park the largest crowd that ever watched a soccer game in Cleveland lined the field.

Before play started I took the last chance to tell the boys all the plans I had made and that if they overcame the obstacle just ahead of them the Western final with the Chicago Swedes would be easy. To tell the truth, the Magyars did not think they had a chance to win.

PLAYERS OVERCONFIDENT

IN soccer football there cannot be any coaching from the sidelines, and, since no substitutes are sent into the game, all instructions must be given to the team before it takes the field, or at half time.

The boys agreed to follow my instructions to the letter and we started off in great fashion. Savage and Pie Caraffi scored in the first half and when the interval was reached we were leading 1 those two goals.

Disaster overtook us in the second half. With only 15 minutes to play, our team became overconfident. Johnny Browning started down the field with the ball from the fullback position and before he could return Sziga had scored for the Magyars. Then, in the last six minutes, Hoffman scored twice. Our chance to go to Paris was gone.

It was a hard blow, but I went on record right there that no other team of mine ever would let up, no matter how many goals it had scored. This explains our 9-0 victory over the Germans in the National final at Newark, N. J., last Sunday.

A COSTLY MISTAKE

WHEN the game was over, I realized I had made a mistake in the lineup of the team. I had failed to place at least three veterans in the lineup. The success of the youngsters in the first half had gone to their heads, and our chance of being American amateur champions had been the price.

We had bitterly dissapointed the 1,000 fans who had made that trip to Cleveland. We should have beaten the Magyars, who subsequently lost to the Swedes in the Western final, and the Swedes then lost to the Fleisher Yarn team of Philadelphia in the grand final.

I got a little satisfaction when the Olympic committee decided to pick a team from all over the States instead of the Fleisher Yarns, and selected Berky Jones, our inside right for a position. The selection was well merited, for Jones is one of the greatest soccer players born in the United States.

In the next chapter, I will tell of the next attempt to win the elusive National championship, two years later.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Close Irregular

Local Stock Quotations

PROFIT-TAKING TURNS STOCKS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Heavy week-end profit-taking turned the course of prices irregular today, after an early display of strength. Selling pressure was most effective in the aviation, communications, motor and merchandising groups, while the public utilities, chemicals, amusements, oils and rails presented several points of strength.

Inasmuch as Friday's closing rate of 6 per cent for call money carries over the week-end, the credit situation was not a direct factor in today's market. Wall street was somewhat puzzled over the source of the new funds which came into the market yesterday and whether a plentiful supply would still be available next week.

Unusually heavy new stock and bond offerings this week suggested the possibility of a large increase in brokers' loans next week. United Corporation was again one of the most active features in today's market, crossing 75 to a new high record. American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power, North American and Public Service of New Jersey all sold 2 to nearly 4 points above yesterday's final quotations, but the gains were not fully maintained.

Chesapeake Corporation ran up 4 points to a new high at 97 in response to the declaration of a 30 per cent stock dividend. Commercial Solvents, Consolidated Gas and Standard Oil of New Jersey also sold at new high levels for the year, the first named advancing 4 points.

General Electric, Gillette Safety Razor, International Telephone and Curtis Aeroplane all sold down 3 points or more and at least a score others dropped 1 to 2½ points below yesterday's final quotations in the last hour of trading.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, May 11.—Rainy weather Southwest and West, emphasizing complaints of excessive moisture in some districts, did much to turn wheat prices upward today after a hesitating start. Liverpool wheat quotations, lower than expected, had only a transient effect here. Opening at ½c decline to ⅛c advance, Chicago wheat later showed gains all around. Corn and oats also developed a rising trend, with corn starting ⅜c off to ⅝c up, and subsequently scoring a general advance. Provisions held steady.

In addition to reports that too numerous welcome downpours were bringing about less favorable crop conditions in important parts of domestic winter wheat territory, an incentive for wheat buyers today and for consequent higher prices at times was found in announcement of better trans-Atlantic call for wheat. Cables at hand indicated further large purchases for European continental countries had been made and that the amounts taken included some number two hard wheat from the United States.

Uneasiness over Hessian fly infestation of wheat fields in various districts counted also as a stimulus for upturns in values today. As an example, messages from Warren County in Eastern Missouri, said the Hessian fly menace was decidedly serious. Under such circumstances, previous speculative sellers here made haste to reverse their market position and with the market swinging at least temporarily upward, a relative scarcity of offerings followed that was in striking contrast with recent urgent selling.

Mountain Producers Earnings.

Mountain Producers Corporation for the year 1928 will show net earnings after charges, but before depletion and federal taxes, slightly higher than in 1927, but will be below dividend requirements of $2.60 a share. In 1927 the company earned $3,391,986, or $2.01 a share. No reduction in the annual dividend rate is contemplated, owing to comparatively large surplus. At the close of 1927 the surplus account stood at $16,626,721. Cash, call loans and government securities on December 31, 1927, were $5,509,452.

Accumulation of Magma Copper is understood to have been in progress in recent sessions by interests who believe the stock will soon sell at substantially higher levels. Magma's copper production and profits for the three months ended March 31, last, set a new high record for any previous quarter in the history of the company. Earnings were equal to $2.43 a share on 408,155 shares no par capital outstanding, and indications are profits for current quarter will be in excess of this amount.

Phelps-Dodge on Big Board.

The admission to trading on the New York Stock Exchange of the 2,000,000 shares of the capital stock of Phelps Dodge Corporation marks the return of the securities of this 100-year-old organization to the "Big Board" after an absence of over 11 years. Phelps Dodge Corporation is probably the oldest metal dealing organization in this country, having started 115 years ago with the formation of the metal importing firm of Phelps & Beck. The principal business of that firm was the exportation of cotton and the importing of tin and other metals to the United States. In 1917, the various operating companies were all merged and the present company of Phelps Dodge Corporation came into existence, at which time the old Phelps Dodge & Co. stock was withdrawn from the New York Stock Exchange. The stock of Phelps Dodge has always been closely held among the Phelps, Dodge, James and Douglas families, who for generations have been associated with this enterprise. Recently a group of New York bankers, headed by Hornblower & Weeks, purchased in London from British interests 200,000 shares of Phelps Dodge Corporation stock, which had originally been issued years ago in the acquisition of extensive copper properties in Arizona. Through the sale of these shares to the public, sufficient distribution has been obtained to permit the return of Phelps Dodge Corporation to the New York Stock Exchange.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 11.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 3 to 9 points on continuation of yesterday's covering movement, on some trade and commission house buying promoted by relatively steady cables and on reports of a firm spot situation in the south.

Trading was moderately active with offerings comparatively light and the active months sold 14 to 17 points net higher before the end of the first half hour. July advanced to 18.69c, and December to 18.90c, but the market met a little more realizing at these figures and eased off slightly in consequence.

Amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 82,000 bales against 95,000 last year and 118,000 two years ago.

Liverpool cables reported covering, trade calling, and American buying in the market there and said there was an improving cloth demand, especially from India.

Futures closed steady; 6 to 12 points higher; May, 19.42@19.43c; July, 18.62@18.64c; October, 18.67@18.68c; December, 18.82@18.84c; January, 18.87c. Spot steady; middling, 19.65c.

Stocks Show Small Yield; He Picked the Right Boss.

By B. C. FORBES

JOHN J. RASKOB—who has been leading a gentleman's life since last November—declared that the old yardstick for measuring stock prices namely, 10 times a stock's earnings, was out of date and that 15 times earnings was not unreasonable now-a-days. Would it astonish you to know that 60 per cent of our industrial common stocks are today selling above even Mr. Raskob's revised figure?

The authors of Poor's Manuals, financiel tomes famous for years, have analyized nearly 400 industrial common stocks and, based on 1928 earnings, this is what they find:

	Pct.
Under 10 times earnings......	10.7
10 to 12 times earnings	9.6
12 to 15 times earnings	18.8
15 to 20 times earnings	20.0
20 to 25 times earnings	12.7
25 to 30 times earnings	8.8
30 to 40 times earnings	3.8
40 to 50 times earnings	1.1
Over 50 times earnings	4.1
Earned nothing on common...	10.4
Total	100.0

This comment is added: "Of this large group of industrial stocks, 89.3 per cent were selling at over 10 times their 1928 earnings per share. More than three-quarters, or 79.7 per cent, were selling at over 12 times their earnings. Sixty and nine tenths per cent, were selling at over 15 times their earnings and 40.9 per cent were selling at over 20 times earnings.

This showing is not conducive to speculative enthusiasm.

A LIEUTENANT of detectives, commenting on last Saturday's reference in this column to the May day parade of communists in New York, writes in part:

"I have been a member of the police bureau for more than 20 years. The last five years I have had charge of details pertaining to industrial and foreign assignments, which brings me in contact not only with the parlor Bolsheviks but also the so-called leaders and fanatics associated with clubs and societies. As a remedy I would suggest: First, that adequate laws be enacted so that the federal, state and city authorities could handle this dangerous serpent, which is surely growing in this country and secondly, instead of sending back these disgruntled foreigners, enact laws to deal properly with the American born who, claiming long American descent, head these new-fangled associations and not only give aid to ignorant foreigners, but fan the flame by creating new associations with high-sounding titles. They are the real cause of the expansion of this Bolshevik movement in this country. Not until we have such laws, will the evil be eradicated."

CHARLES H. SABIN, of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York, years ago remarked to me that, while he heard a lot about the importance of picking the right kind of employes, it was just as important for a young man to pick the right kind of employer.

David A. Crawford, the new 50-year-old president of the Pullman Company, did just that—as also, by the way, did Lewis H. Brown, who recently succeeded the late Theodore F. Merseles as president of the Johns-Manville Corporation. More than 20 years ago Crawford, a canny Scot, threw in his lot, after finishing college, with Edward F. Carry, then vice-president of the American Car & Foundry Company, Carry rose step by step until he became the genius dominating the Pullman company. At each step he took Crawford with him, the latter becoming executive vice-president of Pullman last year.

When President Carry suddenly was carried off a few weeks ago, the higher-up employes were uneasy over what the directors might do. One of them tells me, "We all heaved a sigh of relief when Mr. Crawford was made president. He has made himself one of us."

This thumbnail sketch of Pullman's new president is furnished this column by one of his intimates: "He has traditional Scottis characteristics. He has, also a remarkable financiel analytical mind. He has lots of vision and a personality that insures the respect, confidence and loyalty of subordinates. He likes men, is a pretty good golfer and vice-president of the Glenview Club. He has found time to be a member of the Chicago regional plan commission and to serve on the executive committee of the Industrial club."

The only pity is that Mr. Carry didn't make Crawford president a year or two ago and lead a less killing pace.

A STEEL employe writes: "Thousands are out of work even though the U. S. Steel Corporation is operating at 1,030 per cent of capacity. I feel that a shorter day—six hours—would take up some of the slack. A pipe mill near Pittsburgh, I was told today, has put in two pipe machines, each operated by five men, which have taken the place of 200 workmen. Are they carrying this sort of thing too far?

"There should be old-age pensions. A small sales tax or something else that each person could pay seems easy and right. It is a crime to send poor old men or poor old women to the poorhouse who were good citizens and helpful in a community."

New York building tradesmen have forced upon builders a five-day week and now certain railway workers are demanding a six-hour day. Shorter working hours will not enchance America's prosperity, or the ultimate well-being of the shorter hours bring greater production per hour. Scarcity of goods doesn't make for genuine prosperity. Shorter hours will come as man gains greater mastery over the science of economic production.

Meanwhile why not abolish the seven-day work week wherever this uncivilized, un-American arrangement still is in force?

TO employers: Are you arranging vacations with pay for all classes of your workers this year?

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 11. — (AP.) — The bond market held fairly steady today after the halt of the recent price decline brouht about by a restoration of bullish confidence yesterday.

Convertibles, however, were subject to week-end profit-taking and moved unevenly. The American I. G. Chemical 5½s continued firm, but International Telephone 4½s and International Cement 5s, two of the week's favorites, ran into selling orders.

Trading as a whole was dull, the only activity of any importance being in the stock privilege issues.

A weak spot was American Natural Gas 6½s, with warrants, which dropped 3 points.

United States government obligations, responding to the weekend easement in the money market, again were firm on a light turnover.

In the foreign list French 7s were in demand at slightly higher prices and a few German issues also were inclined to rally after their recent weakness.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Wins Custody of Son From DuPont Heiress

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Harold Sanford Glendenning was awarded custody of his 6-year-old son, Allen S. Glendenning, by Supreme Court Justice Sherman. The boy has been in the custody of his mother, the former Alicia DuPont, adopted daughter of Alfred I. DuPont, of Wilmington, Del., who obtained a divorce from Glendenning in Reno in 1926.

Stipulations, agreed to by counsel for both sides, provided that the sole care, custody and education of the boy go to the father, that the couple meet February 1, 1930, to consider whether the best interests of the child call for a change in custody and if they are unable to agree they are directed to seek the aid of the court.

Widow Named Heir In $18,000 Estate

Mrs. Pearl Salyards, of Pitcairn, was named sole beneficiary and executrix of the $18,000 estate of her husband, D. F. Salyards, whose will was filed for probate today. The will sets forth that at Mrs. Salyards' death, or, if she remarries, the estate is to be turned over to the Salyards children.

QUOTATIONS HOLD STEADY ON LOCAL STOCK MARKET

Prices were generally steady to firm on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange during the short week-end session today, but the list was inclined to mark time pending more definite developments on the New York Exchange.

Western Public Service was in moderate demand at the opening, but after moving up fractionally met enough selling to stem the advance and slipped back to a trading range around 28½. Arkansas Gas was active around $8 a share while the rights to purchase the new non-voting stock reached a new top in the curb trading. Lone Star Gas was quiet and came into the market at a small fractional decline from the previous session's close.

Manufacturing issues were practically unchanged. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt changed hands around 28, the level at which it has been resting following the recent run-up to above 29. The stock has been well supported at the 28-level and there are reports that well-informed interests are adding to their holdings in anticipation of favorable developments in connection with negotiations said to be in progress with the Bendix-General Motors interests who are understood to be desirous of obtaining the rights to Screw and Bolt's new airplane propeller. Street gossip is that the stock was scheduled for a rise the latter part of this week, but action along these lines has been postponed pending absorption of a fairly large block of stock said to be coming on the market around the current level.

Richman Bros. Stock Split.

Richman Brothers Company directors have voted to split the capital stock in the ratio of three new shares for one present share, and to place the new stock on a $3 annual dividend basis compared with the $6 basis for the present stock. This constitutes an increase in dividends of $3 a year. The company will offer to employes 50,000 shares of new stock at $50 a share, which price is a little more than one-third of the estimated market value of the new stock. This offering price is in reality a bonus of about $4,000,000 to the company's 3,800 employes in the two factories at Cleveland and Lorain, O., and in the 38 retail stores throughout the country. More than 80 per cent of the employes are now stockholders, with holdings aggregating $7,500,000. The present authorized issue of 250,000 no-par shares, of which 197,741 shares are outstanding, will be increased to 1,000,000 no-par shares. In 1928 the company earned $3,571,146, or $18.04 a share on the outstanding stock, compared with $3,276,326, or $16.58 a share in 1927.

Money Strain Not Over.

In quarters where the money situation is followed with more than usual close scrutiny there is little disposition to accept the abrupt relaxation in demand rates from the 14 per cent high of Thursday to yesterday's 6 per cent charge as marking definite passing of the stringency. On the contrary conditions operative in the market are believed to foreshadow comparatively high rates for some time to come. Relaxation on Thursday was due to the influx of out-of-town funds, attracted to New York by high rates prevailing. The further abrupt drop yesterday, on the other hand, was the result of the appearance of several of the larger New York banks as lenders. The action of the latter, it is contended, is intended to discourage the flow to New York of interior funds.

U. S. CHEMICAL DEVELOPMENT CONTINUES

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE American chemical industry has been showing an almost uninterrupted growth during the last 15 years. The World War supplied the impetus for expansion, but with the termination of the conflict the development kept on.

Today the United States is both the largest producer and the largest consumer of chemicals in the world. It is the second largest exporter of chemicals and by far the largest importer. A great share of these imports, however, are raw materials used to feed the new industry here.

THE spectacular growth of du Pont and the steady increase in the business and profits of Allied Chemical and Dye are well nown. The earnings of du Pont have increased in every year since 1921. Those of Allied Chemical have increased in every year since 1924. The industry embraces such a wide range of products that it is difficult to generalize about it, but there have been other companies showing equally good records.

Before the war the United States had developed the production of only the basic products of the chemical industry including naval stores, phosphate rock, fertilizers, sulphur, acids, metallurgical by-products and paints. It was almost entirely dependent on imports for the more highly refined chemicals.

THE severing of trade with Germany forced American industry into the manufacture of dyes and highly processed chemicals. The first results were not altogether satisfactory, as was shown by the quickly fading fabrics of war days. But within a few years the pioneers passed from the make-shift stage to highly efficient producers.

In 1928 this country exported one-fourth of all the chemical products entering into foreign trade. Germany made a remarkable recovery after the war and has regained its leadership with exports of about two-fifths of all the chemicals.

WHILE the United States has conceded first place to Germany in the world trade in chemicals it has kept the bulk of business in this hemisphere to itself. Last year it outstripped Germany by $14,000,000 in exports of chemicals to North, Central and South America and to the West Indies.

In the Far East and Africa the United Kingdom held the lead due to its trade position in its possessions and protectorates.

THE sudden development of the industry in this country has created a demand for an entirely new type of business executive and great difficulty has been experienced in finding men fitted for the positions. Chemically trained men are needed to fill the vast number of positions in the management of companies where chemical materials and processes are daily growing more important, but the traininig being given by universities does not fit young men for this work in opinion of William Haynes, a chemical economist, who spoke at the chemical exposition in New York this week. He said there was a surplus of men trained for routine analysis and research work, but a shortage of about 25,000 men with chemical training who were also equipped to manage plants or branch offices and to fill financial and executive positions.

Dimeolo Good Student, Up In Credits

Announcement was made today by Don Harrison, athletic director of the University of Pittsburgh, that a misunderstanding exists as to the scholastic standing of Albert Dimeolo, captain-elect of the Pitt football team for next fall, as a result of the breaking of the story yesterday that the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity had been suspended for one year at the local university by the Interfraternity Council because of the initiation of Dimeolo and Jimmy Rooney, another football player, at a time when they were not eligible for such initiation because they lacked sufficient credits.

"This initiation occurred two years ago," Harrison said, "and the technicality has just been unearthed, coming like a ghost from the past to haunt and harass Dimeolo, who has been an excellent student since. If the initiation were to come at this time he would be eligible with plenty to spare, and this, incidentally, has been his status for a long time. It would be vicious and unfair to him to permit the impression to become general, as a result of the action against the fraternity, that he is not a good student."

DRINKING AMONG SCHOOL CHILDREN CALLED RUINOUS

By CARLETON B. CLYMA,

Former Editor and Publisher Stuart (Fla.) Daily News and a Manuscript Reader for the Hearst Temperance Contest.

Prof. C. H. Scherf, Elizabeth (N. J.) High School principal, contributes a valuable discussion to the Hearst $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest, which closed April 30. The instances to follow, he says, are not "wild imaginary incidents," but checked cases on how prohibition has affected students.

Prof. Scherf says there is one great difference between the high school lad of today and his father of yesterday. He also declares that if this difference continues and grows it may spell ruin not only for our youth, but to the whole country. "The high school boy of 10 or 20 years ago did not carry a hip-flask. The boy of today frequently does, and so does his sister." The educator goes on to say:

"Drinking among high school children has grown from almost nothing to appalling magnitude in 10 years. I know schools where more than half of the students drink. Scarcely a school is unaffected, and there are few where at least a third do not drink every chance they get, and there are many chances.

"LITTLE PARTIES"

"This is not mere irresponsible speculation. A principal who is awake knows his boys and girls and finds out what they are doing without snooping. In checking tardy pupils I find many cases go straight back to a little party of the night before. Some of them are really ill in the morning, and others just sleepy. Incidentally, it is amazing how mothers will prevaricate for these youngsters, and how the boys and girls themselves will tell the truth in discussing their cases with me.

"I never preach to them; therefore they confide in me. I might tell hundreds of stories that I have gathered, but will select just a few to illustrate a sickening state of affairs:

"Harold was what we call a spoiled child. He had everything he wanted, except that his father and mother agreed that when they served home-made wine to guests Harold was to have none. The boy thought it would be great fun to imitate his elders. He and a friend formed the habit of going into the cellar, taking about one-fifth of the wine from each bottle and replacing it with water. In this way they could get from two to five quarts. They would then go to a vacant barn and put on a party.

MOONSHINE STOLEN

"When the story came to me, I sent for the lad's mother. She denied such a thing could happen, even stating that the family had no wine in the cellar. Yet she had bought 1,000 pounds of grapes that fall, presumably to make 2,000 glasses of grape jelly. Today Harold is 20 and apparently headed toward the distribution end of the game as well as the consuming end."

He tells how five of his boys were absent from school one Monday morning and that the truant officer reported they had been away from home since Sunday afternoon.

"A bootlegger had bemoaned the loss of a 10-gallon barrel of moonshine, stolen from his car on Sunday night. This last report came to me by way of one of the boys who had been in a pool hall where the story of the loss was creating a stir. I am no Sherlock Holmes; but I knew these boys drank.

"We found the boys and the barrel in the woods behind the town. They were all beastly drunk and very ill. They insisted dramatically on pouring what was left of the whisky into the sewer.

"I found a large number of my high school boys and girls at a rural dance hall. It was midnight and things were going strong. The hall was so full of alcohol fumes that if anyone had struck a match I fear there would have been a fire. At the door were some people palpably intoxicated. I completed my errand, turned one girl over to her parents and left. Outside I was offered a drink by three different boys. Parked cars contained young couples drinking. I hastened back to my own car disgusted.

HOOT AT REFORM

"Don't forget that these high school tipplers are not all low class. Many of them come from the so-called best families. My experience has been that the high schools that are located in the best residential districts have more cases of students drinking than the schools located in the poorer districts.

"Ten years ago when a principal gave a temperance talk to his students he received respectful attention and sympathetic response. Today if he mentions the thing there is open snickering. Youth has lost its respect for temperance through its attitude toward prohibition.

"How do these children get liquor. Ask any bootlegger. There are 500,000 of them in the country; maybe they will tell you. What are we going to do about it? Well, first let us open our eyes and admit the facts. Let us at least stop listening to dry enthusiasts who think our only problem is to kill off the old soaks."

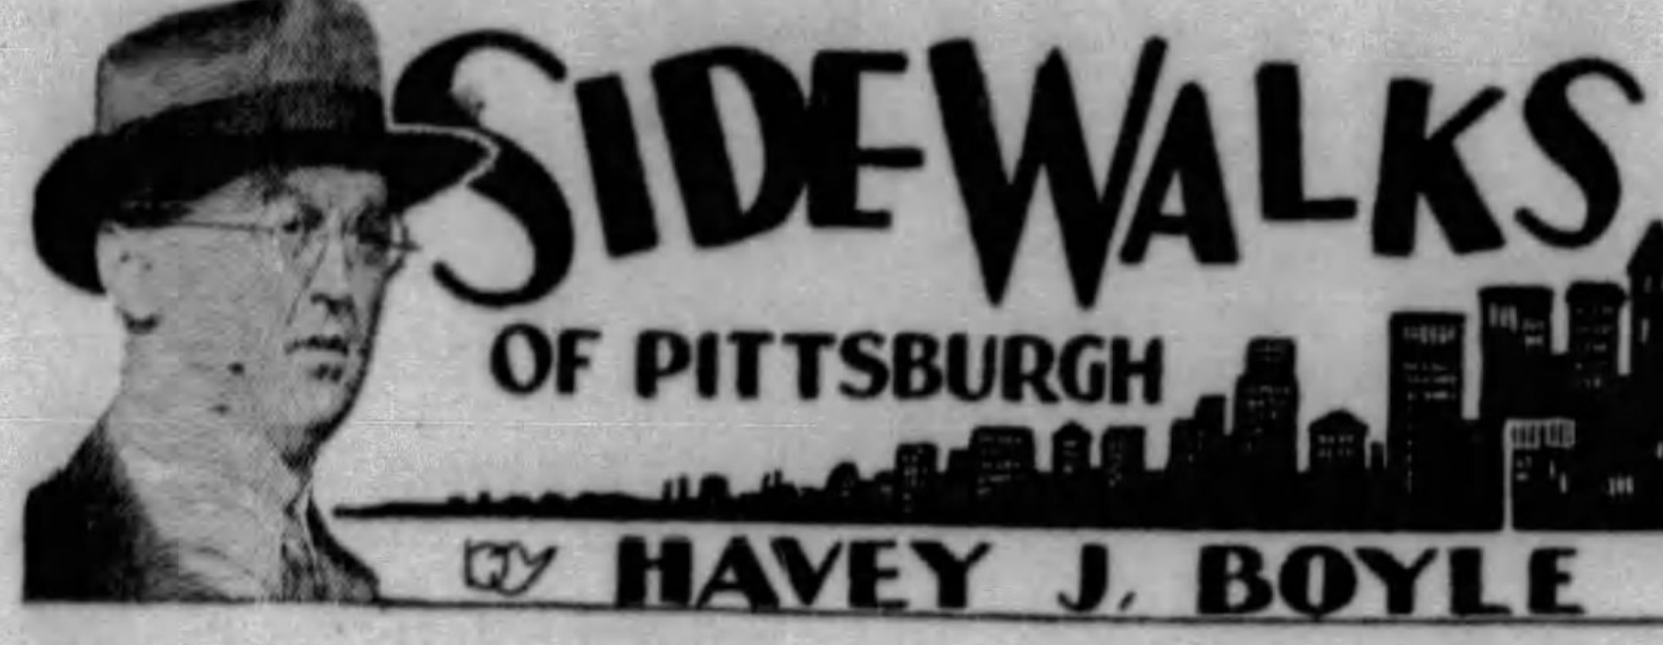
STOWE TOWNSHIP BOOSTS SCHOOL TAXES

4-MILL RAISE VOTED BY BOARD

Taxpayers of McKees Rocks and Stowe Township will have to open their purse strings the coming year, as a result of actions taken by the school boards of that district, when they raised the millage for school purposes from 19 to 23 mills in Stowe Township and from 20 to 21 mills in the borough.

The increase, it was held, was justified by the fact that an imposing building program had been agreed upon. Based upon the valuation of $9,800,000 in the township the sum realized by the assessment will be $225,400. Of this amount $175,000 will be used for the general fund and $49,000 will be retired as a sinking fund.

In the borough the property valuation is fixed at $12,200,000 and the new levy will bring in approximately $256,000. Of this amount $206,000 will be devoted to the general administration, while $50,000 will be set aside for the bonded indebtedness.



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

ONE of the most traveled men in Jim Weir. He has crossed the continent something like 30 times. His traveling comes largely from the fact that his homes are widely scattered and numerous. While he is known as Jim Weir, of McKeesport, and McDonald, Pa., the thing is not simple as all that as he also has a home in San Diego, Cal., and one in Colorado Springs, Col. To add some confusion he is also referred to as Jim Weir, of Weirton, W. Va. At the present writing he is in Baltimore, having lately returned from Miami, Fla.

Many Pittsburghers know Jim Weir. He was closely associated with the late Denny O'Neill, onetime county commissioner, onetime state insurance commissioner, onetime candidate for governor, and his contacts through his O'Neill affiliation caused him to meet most of the prominent men in the state.

APPARENTLY, Mr. Weir's hobby is traveling, for he overlooks no occasion to jump a train and go places and see things. He hasn't missed a baseball world series for 20 years or more; he hasn't missed a big prize fight for longer than that. To miss a Kentucky Derby or the Preakness would be simply out of the question. In his home (the one at McDonald, Pa.,) he has stacks and stacks of coupons showing his seat number and the date and the title of the various events he has witnessed.

When Mr. Weir speaks of sitting on his porch at home one doesn't know whether he refers to the one looking out upon the Pacific in San Diego; the one that faces Pikes Peak, in Colorado; the one in McDonald, or those stopping off places he knows in Weirton, W. Va., or McKeesport, Pa.

FROM his bulk of 250 pounds or more there issues a deep booming voice which can tell you of many sights in many corners. He knows the political history of our town; he remembers Luke Barnett and when Luke sold cigars; for a time he served as a foil for Luke.

"What number?" asked the elevator man of the messenger boy. "Four Sixty-nine," replied the alert boy. "I mean what floor," said the elevator man.

In the new office buildings the elevator man takes your order as soon as you step into the car. As the customers call out: "Seven," "Nine," "Ten," "Eleven," the operator pushes certain buttons and the mechanism takes care of the rest of the work.

A far cry from the days when alarmists said that elevators would never do because they might get stuck between floors and the occupants starve to death.

ONE of the busiest departments of city government now is the bureau of recreation which has to do with issuing permits to twilight baseball leaguers. A difficulty comes from the fact that there are not enough playgrounds and dates to go around. The city fathers who stand for larger expenditure for playgrounds, affording facilities for the men and boys who cannot afford country club memberships, automobiles and other luxuries in the amusement line, should be popular with the citizenry.

TO BUREAU OF RECREATION

The playgrounds serve not only the boys who play the games, but in the evenings they afford amusements to older men who after a hot day in the mill or office, like to smoke a pipeful while they watch the South Side Triangles battle with the North Side Wolves. At the present time the playgrounds are closed on Sundays—to ball games—and the result is that a lot of the boys stand around corners and indulge in a game known as craps—the moment the policeman turns his back. Others go into smelly clubs and play cards to observe the law, which prohibits Sunday baseball.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.

Flew down to Pimlico, Md., to see the great "Preakness" race. Bucked a head wind, but not as strong a one as the horse I bet on bucked forty thousand people there, counting Senators and Congressmen.

Farmers got no relief, but the mutuel betting machines cleaned up. Handled over a million and a half on one race.

Lucky for me I run into Doc Admiral Grayson. Through his medical influence he got me in the inclosure, where the Republicans were. Otherwise I would have had to stay in the center field with the Democrats.

Gov. Ritchie was mighty nice to us. Vice President Curtis enjoyed it. Hoover would have liked it.

It was one place where the Democrats couldn't join with the loose-moraled Republicans and put over anything.

Yours, WILL.

"Safety—A National Problem" is the subject of a talk by Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, over WCAE at 7:15 o'clock.

James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, and Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, will speak over WJAS at 10 p. m. This station will also have Roger W. Babson in a new series of program at 8:30 o'clock.

Wesley Eddy, who succeeds Teddy Joyce as master of ceremonies at the Penn Theater on May 20, will speak to Pittsburghers from his dressing room in the Capitol Theater, Washington, at 7 o'clock tonight. It is a unique stunt where Eddy talks into the telephone transmitter at Washington and the voice is amplified in the WCAE studio and then relayed to the radio audience by microphone. The stunt is not original, the same feat having been accomplished a few months ago when Ambassador Morrow spoke from Mexico City to WOR's audience by the telephone method. But it is good enough to be interesting . . . and different.

WESLEY EDDY ON 'PHONE.

An attempt will be made to broadcast the voice of Wesley Eddy, new master of ceremonies for the Penn Theater, who will make his first appearance there May 20, over the telephone from his dressing room at the Palace Theater in Washington. Eddy is completing his final week at that theater.

Eddy will call Atlantic 1201, station WCAE's private wire, on the long distance telephone from his dressing room. His voice will be picked up in the control room of the station here and amplified and then turned into WCAE's microphone and put on the air. Eddy will not talk into a microphone and therein lies the novelty of the stunt.

Wesley Eddy will talk to Livingston Lanning, managing director of the Penn Theater with reference to his plans for his first week's performance in Pittsburgh.

Boy Injured, Father Sues 2 as Doctors

John Kleissas, of East Pittsburgh, on behalf of his nine-year-old son, Nick, filed suits in Common Pleas Court against Lena M. Mahaffey and Al Hawkins, asking $5,000 of each for injuries suffered by the son. The defendants falsely represented themselves as physicians and induced Kleissas to permit them to treat the son, according to Kleissas. He charged that they twisted the boy's back and limbs, and that as a result of the treatment the boy was confined to a hospital.

Receipts of School Class Play Stolen

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 11.—Thieves broke into the Richland Township School building near here and stole $70, the proceeds of a class play by the seniors. County detectives are working on the case.

STATE TO ACT IN DRY KILLING

ABINGDON, Va., May 11.—(INS.)—With indictment looming for Policeman McReynolds and his deputies, James Crowe and J. H. Worley, alleged to have shot and killed youthful J. M. Kendrick while pursuing a suspected liquor-running car, officials of this town today awaited the promised demand from Gov. Harry E. Byrd for a full report of the fatal shooting.

Advices from the state capital at Richmond indicated that Gov. Byrd was "deeply concerned" over the killing of the college student and quoted the state executive as saying:

"While those officers are not under my control I shall write immediately for a report of the incident. I will determine my course of action after I get this report."

Commonwealth Attorney Parks said today that nearly a year ago he warned the officers against indiscriminate gun fire. He asserted that indictments would be demanded against the three officers, now under $5,000 bail on a murder charge, when the grand jury meets May 27.

E. M. Kendrick, wealthy uncle and guardian of the slain youth, has announced his intention of spending every cent of his fortune "to bring these men to justice."

"It is not for revenge," Kendrick told newspapermen. "It is rather to forestall now and for all time a recurrence of this tragedy."

DE KING INQUIRY SET FOR FRIDAY

AURORA, Ill., May 11.—(INS.)—All witnesses in the "death for a gallon of wine" case of Mrs. Lillian De King, shot to death in a dry raid prompted by a confessedly illegal warrant, were under subpena today to appear before a legislative investigating committee here next Friday.

Special investigators are reported to have been engaged to assist the committee and are completing reports to be submitted to the committee next Thursday.

The legislative inquiry follows the exoneration by the Kane County Grand Jury of Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who invaded the De King home, slugged De King and killed Mrs. De King with shotgun slugs.

Only one indictment has resulted, that of Eugene Boyd Fairchild, $5-a-case prohibition operative, who admitted the falsity of his affidavit with which the raiders entered the De King home.

BUGS BAER Says

SUNK WITHOUT A TRACE

IF THE reparations posse permits the peace clique to scrap the navies of the world then the wires are crossed on the spark plugs of sentiment.

"Bugs" Baer

The most beautiful sight in the world is a navy steaming out to sea to battle the appropriations committee.

And the next most inspiring tableaux is a mighty battleboat in drydock with the smoke pouring out of her kitchen stove and the barnacles clinging to her propellor.

As school children we used to recite, "Aye, tear her tattered ensign down—"

It started that way. Then it stuttered. But it saved the majestic Constitution when Congress was about to break that old wooden monarch up into cuckoo clocks.

Don't sink the Navy. Do the pacifists expect us to see the world on bicycles?

Shall we forget J. P. Jones, Senior, Lawrence on Lake Erie, Decatur on the Philadelphia at Tripoli, Hobson on the Merrimac, and John F. Hylan on the Staten Island ferry-boat?

Shall we forget those heroic dudes and remember the champion hog-caller of Arizona, the shuffleboard tournament of Bangor, and the man who invented cross-word puzzles?

Have we reached that stage where we no longer require history and can plunge into the future with all the originality of a stencil and the vigor and warlike fervor of a wet bath mat?

Must we blink forever on the murals of Angelo, Sargent and Opper and never again gaze at the stupendous grandeur of a red and green beetle tattoed on a sailor's chest?

Shall we sink the Navy and then be forced to look at the crowning indignity of an admiral sailing up Salt Creek with an outboard motor attached to his coattails?

They can destroy boats on paper but they must build them of iron. And when trouble starts we do not want to be sheltered behind a porous barricade of wood-pulp.

What of the massive exertions of Magellan, Hudson, the Cabots and Raleigh? Where would the anti-navy folks be if these men had spent their lives mowing lawns?

We do not mention Columbus. He did something far more important than discovering America.

He discovered that even a queen will give her jewelry to a sailor.

Sailors are the romantic figures of the world. When a sailor tells a girl he loves her it's true until further notice.

Without a Navy there would be no sailors. And without sailors the chop suey joints might as well go out of business.

If they must sink the navies of the world let us compromise. Like the sun, the air and the stars, don't abolish them until we get better substitutes.

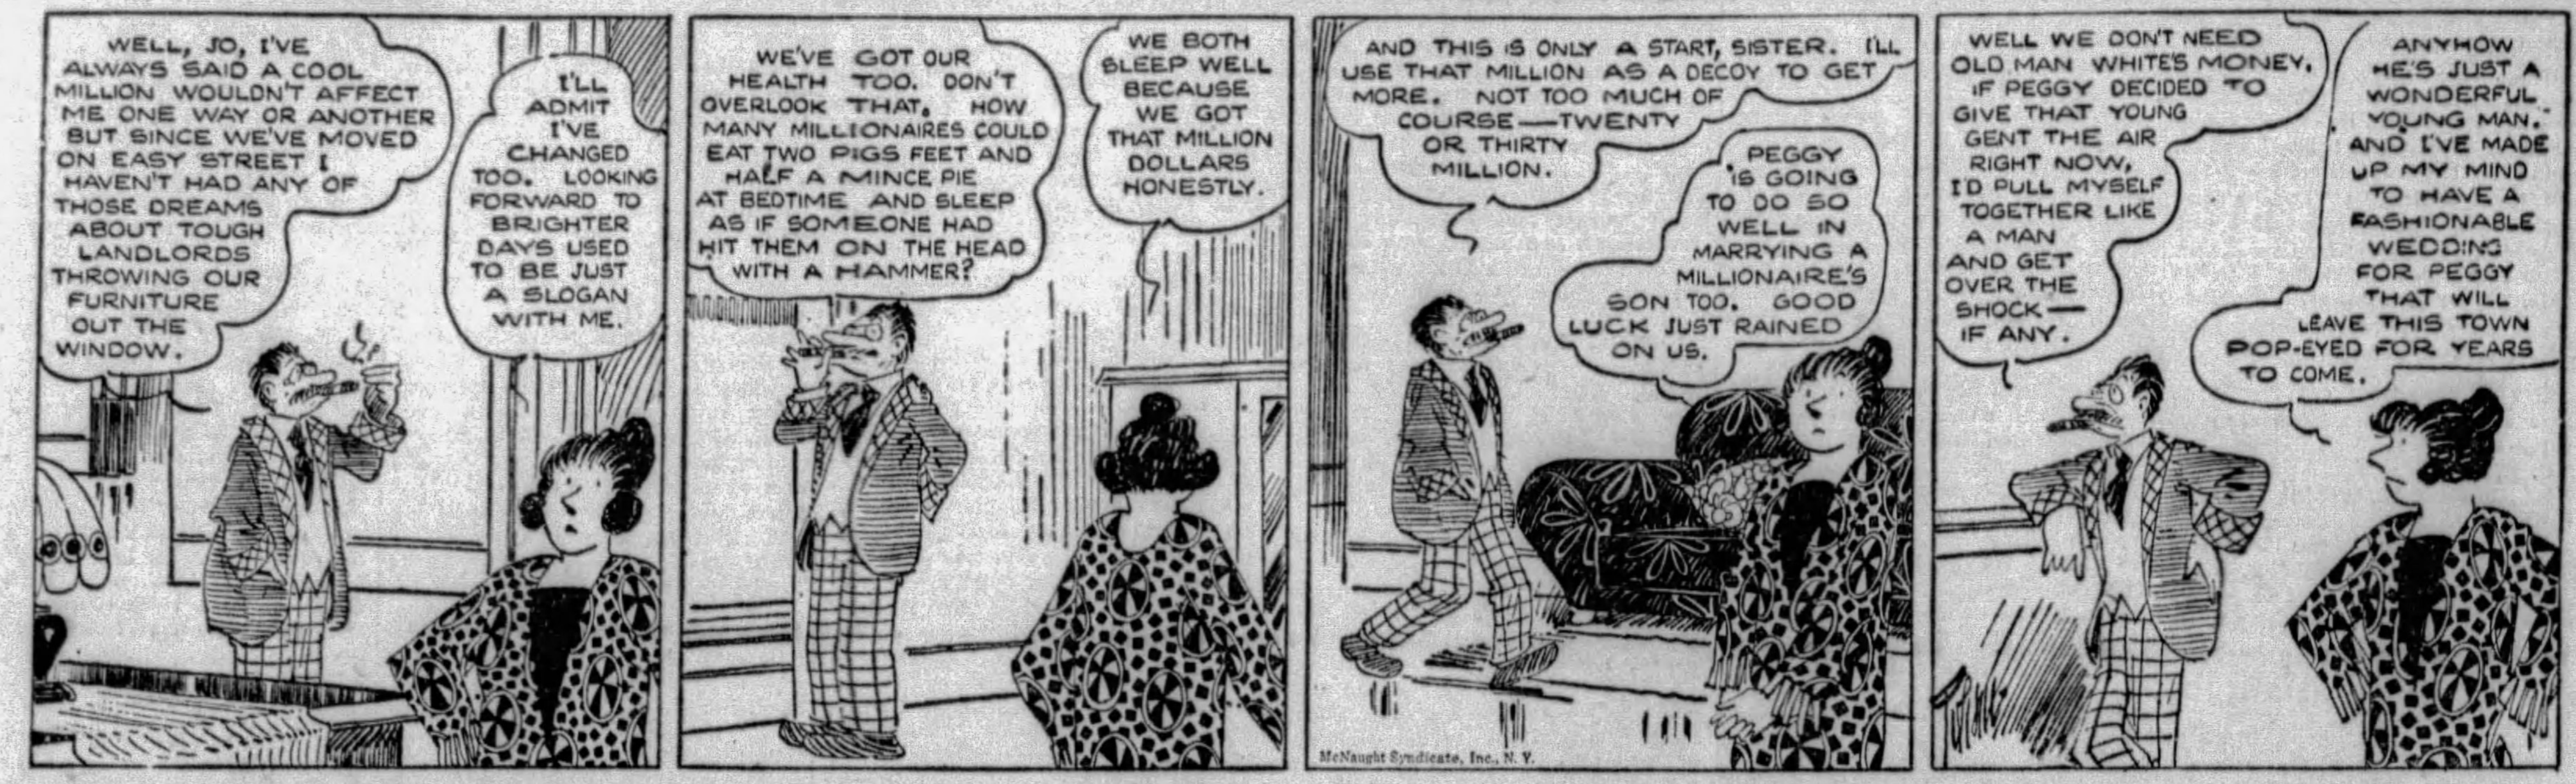
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Good Cheer



WELL, JO, I'VE ALWAYS SAID A COOL MILLION WOULDN'T AFFECT ME ONE WAY OR ANOTHER BUT SINCE WE'VE MOVED ON EASY STREET I HAVEN'T HAD ANY OF THOSE DREAMS ABOUT TOUGH LANDLORDS THROWING OUR FURNITURE OUT THE WINDOW.
I'LL ADMIT I'VE CHANGED TOO. LOOKING FORWARD TO BRIGHTER DAYS USED TO BE JUST A SLOGAN WITH ME.
WE'VE GOT OUR HEALTH TOO. DON'T OVERLOOK THAT. HOW MANY MILLIONAIRES COULD EAT TWO PIGS FEET AND HALF A MINCE PIE AT BEDTIME AND SLEEP AS IF SOMEONE HAD HIT THEM ON THE HEAD WITH A HAMMER?
WE BOTH SLEEP WELL BECAUSE WE GOT THAT MILLION DOLLARS HONESTLY.
AND THIS IS ONLY A START, SISTER. I'LL USE THAT MILLION AS A DECOY TO GET MORE. NOT TOO MUCH OF COURSE—TWENTY OR THIRTY MILLION.
PEGGY IS GOING TO DO SO WELL IN MARRYING A MILLIONAIRE'S SON TOO. GOOD LUCK JUST RAINED ON US.
WELL WE DON'T NEED OLD MAN WHITE'S MONEY. IF PEGGY DECIDED TO GIVE THAT YOUNG GENT THE AIR RIGHT NOW, I'D PULL MYSELF TOGETHER LIKE A MAN AND GET OVER THE SHOCK— IF ANY.
ANYHOW HE'S JUST A WONDERFUL YOUNG MAN, AND I'VE MADE UP MY MIND TO HAVE A FASHIONABLE WEDDING FOR PEGGY THAT WILL LEAVE THIS TOWN POP-EYED FOR YEARS TO COME.

NO-O-O— BUT I'LL ADMIT I WASN'T THINKING OF IT AT THE TIME!
I'M A FIRM BELIEVER IN MARRIAGE —TRIED IT A FEW TIMES MYSELF, AND IT'S ALL RIGHT, AFTER YOU GET USED TO IT! BUT WE OF THIS PROFESSION HAVE OUR CAREERS TO CONSIDER, TOO! REMEMBER THAT!
YOU BELONG TO THE PUBLIC, TOO, YOU KNOW, AND IT'S JEALOUS OF YOU! THINK A LONG TIME BEFORE YOU SWAP FOOTLIGHTS FOR FIRELIGHT! DON'T FIGURE TO MARRY IN HASTE AND REPENT AT LEISURE, BECAUSE YOU'LL BE LUCKY IF YOU HAVE ANY LEISURE!

Complaining that his wife got ideas from the comic strips with which to annoy him, one more husband has obtained a divorce.

He should be thankful that she didn't go to Russian literature for her inspiration.

The general trend of marriage, however, seems to be toward the comic strip.

But any wife who needs outside inspiration to annoy her husband is an unusual creature.

Communication printed in "Psychology" magazine:

"When I bought my first copy of your magazine I was a tramp. Clothed in rags, I tramped from town to town, an outcast. Today I have a fine position, dress well, am paying for and furnishing a lovely little home, and am about to marry the beautiful daughter of the leading citizen of my town."

That's not psychology: that's hypnotism.

This is Baskerville Doakes, who will confer with President Hoover on a new time-saving - efficiency - basis for Congress. Mr. Doakes proposes that debate upon any one bill be limited to two hours, and all members who have anything to say be given the floor at the same time. As nobody listens to anybody else, Mr. Doakes declares the proposal is flawless.

Local Ham Winner

This week's prize in the Camera Contest goes to Mrs. McGillicuddy for the above snap-shot, entitled "Would I Were a Bird." And right here we would like to say a word of appreciation for the interest and enthusiasm Mrs. McGillicuddy has taken in our contest. This week she was the only contestant, despite the fact that she had an extra big washing and ironing. We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Gillicuddy will be awarded the delicious ham offered by our city's most enterprising grocer, Mr. McGillicuddy.

Milestones on the path to civilization—

CONCORDIA, Kans. — Walter Cyr, young Kansas farmer, attempted to poison himself as the only way to escape an insurance agent who was bothering him.

CHICAGO. — Detective-Sergeant Hanke, Evanston, reported that a pickpocket suspect, while being questioned, took his watch.

CHINO, Calif.—Because cautious motorists feared a trap set by highwaymen, James E. Brown, knocked down by a hit-and-run driver, had to lie for half an hour by the roadside with a fractured leg until his uncle came along and recognized him.

Cincinnati's firemen are now part of the police department. In answer to police alarms they will stretch apparatus across the important streets to block traffic and thus prevent escape of criminals.

It would be annoying—after committing a crime—to trip riht over a fire hose.

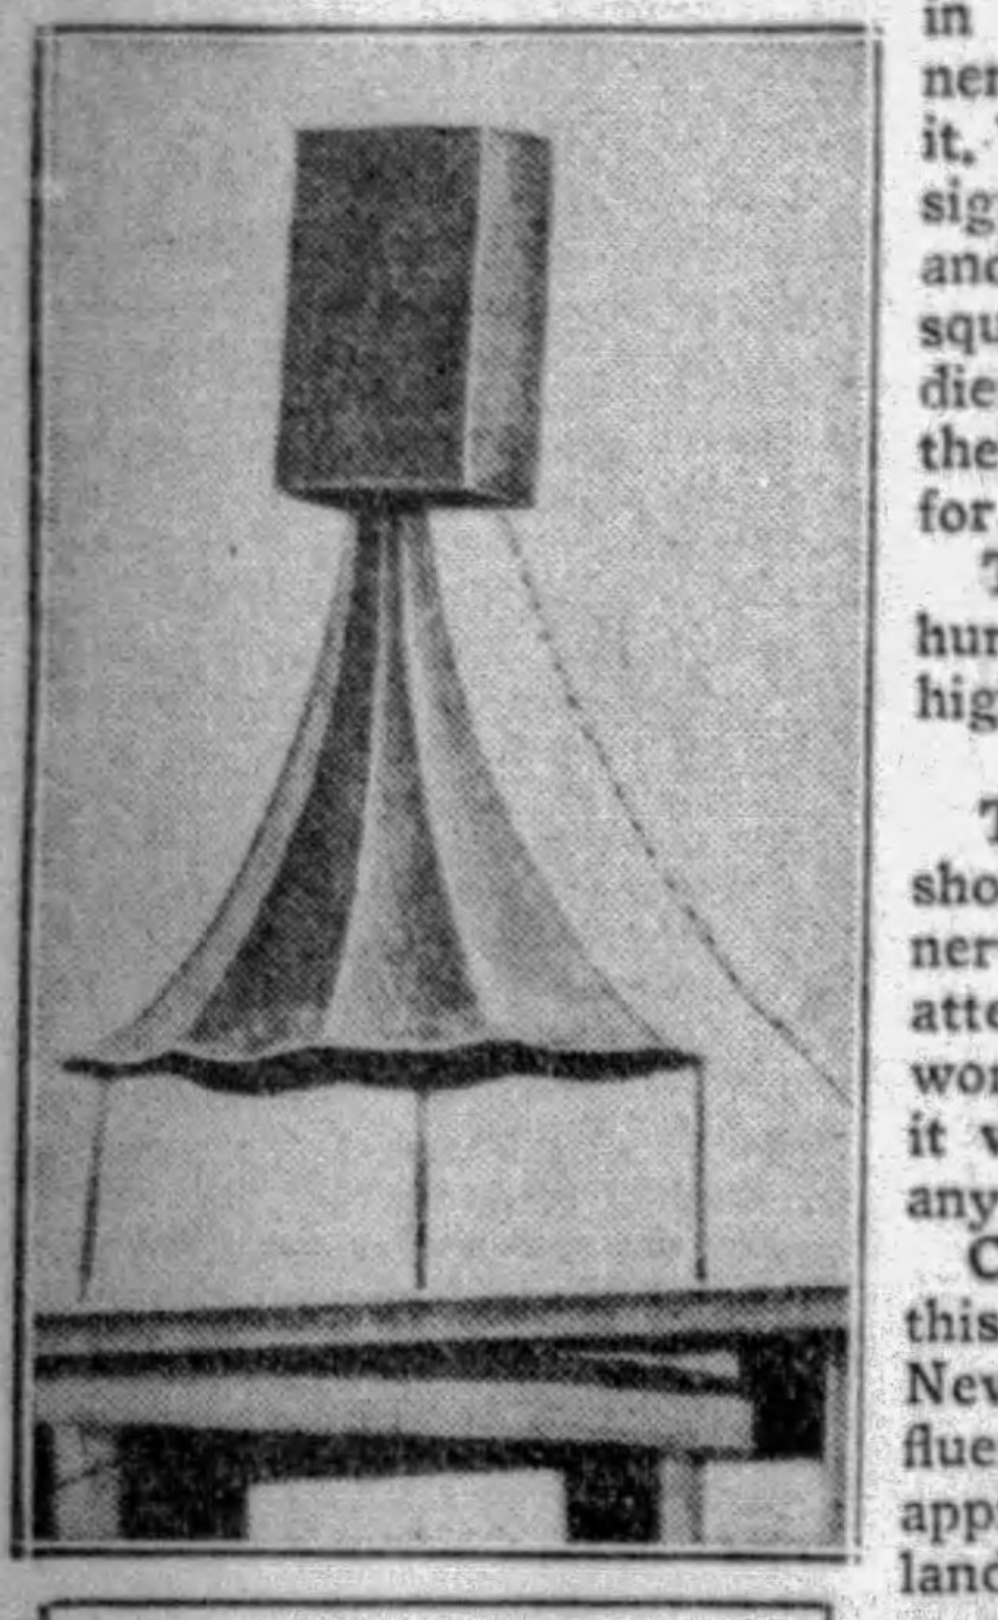
The Electric Ear

And the Trench White Rats.

In the war soldiers in the trenches were protected from deadly gas by white rats and white mice in little cages.

These animals, sensitive to the gas, indicated its presence in the air long before the nerves of the soldiers detected it. When the white rats showed signs of anxiety, running to and fro in their cages and squeaking with fear, the soldiers were ordered to put on their gas masks and prepare for gas attacks.

That was an instance of the humble animal protecting the highest of all the animals.



AUTOMATIC LIGHT AND EAR. IT "LISTENS" FOR AIRPLANES.

This picture, stranger still, shows a machine without nerves or intelligence or human attendant, yet able to do the work of human beings, and do it with greater certainty than any human would do it.

Called "the electric ear," this device, installed at the Newark (N. J.) airport, is influenced by the sound of an approaching airplane. The landing field all dark, the moment the plane approaches with its loud noise, is automatically lighted up by this machine, which automatically turns on floodlights, making the whole field bright. The pilot is enabled to land safely, although no man is awake on the field.

Those who are short-sighted say, foolishly, "This will put a lot of people out of work."

NONSENSE.

It will enable fliers to work in safety and will enable other human beings to do work more necessary and more useful. Everything that a machine CAN do a machine SHOULD do.

There will always be enough work for men that want to work and work intelligently.

Thank Offering for King

There Are OTHER Thank Offerings.

London establishes a "thank offering for the King's recovery," with Lord Somerleyton treasurer. Britons rejoicing in the King's recovery contribute to the London hospitals.

One good Briton, anonymous, signing "Audax," contributes $325,000.

To extract good deeds from the King's illness and British joy at his recovery is intelligent.

In this republic gifts are made in gratitude for the recovery of a child or other relative. Even more numerous are gifts inspired by noble sorrow that death causes.

Many a child, ending life too soon, has been the cause of saving many other children.

'Losing Lawyer's Fallacies'

They Decide Law Suits.

Judge Dabney, able jurist of Charlottesville, Va., advocates arbitration instead of technical legal fights, and says judges decide law suits largely "on the fallacies of the lawyer that loses."

It is easier, says Judge Dabney, to judge a case by the foolish talk of the lawyer on the losing side than to judge it from the arguments of the lawyer on the right side.

Foolishness betrays its weakness so that anybody can see

There is a lesson in Judge Dabney's statement for all that talk loosely, and too much. The warning should be particularly useful to verbose salesmen that often talk themselves INTO a sale and then talk themselves OUT OF IT.

Two words were written above the Greek temple, "Medan agan," meaning "Nothing in excess."

Salesmen, lawyers, everybody, should absorb that "Medan agan" idea, especially as regards too much conversation.

Don't Gamble

Especially in This Country.

England lacks gold, England has much unemployment, England is heavily taxed. But in England those that buy stocks borrow the money at 5 per cent.

We sent five billions to England in the war, about four billions to France, and scattered other billions around "like drunken sailors," and Americans pay their banks as high as 20 per cent interest, if they want to buy stocks on margin. Serves them right for gambling. Certainly, but in "poor England" money is borrowed for the same purpose at 5 per cent.

High finance manages its business better here. It could t Shylock something about getting that pound of flesh.

Dawes to England

He'll Be Welcome.

Great Britain, as much of it as has common sense, will welcome Charles G. Dawes as Ambassador.

The British like REAL Americans and dislike extremely American imitations of Englishmen.

In days gone by, London was very fond of H. L. Horton, then the oldest member of the New York Stock Exchange, who opened a branch in London.

When he dined elaborately Mr. Horton did no hemming and hawing when urged to take some very fine and expensive port after he had enough. He would say, "No, thanks, from now on I will take the money."

The British liked that.

MORE than fifty years ago, thanks to Samuel Plimsoll, "sailors' friend," England formally recognized the fact that there is a load-limit for every ship that stems the storms at sea.

The "Plimsoll" or safe-load water line came into being; to this day it marks every ship that clears a British port. Mariners show a wholesome respect for the "Plimsoll."

The ill-fated Vestris flirted with fate when she disregarded her "Plimsoll" and loaded past the safety line. She took a heavy human cargo to the bottom in a storm.

The Good Ship TEMPERANCE, as Winsor McCay points out above, is flirting with Fate, disregarding her "Plimsoll," and is in danger of FOUNDERING in this country.

She will go down, with heavy loss, AS DID THE VESTRIS, if MISGUIDED Drys, aided by HYPOCRITICAL lawmakers, persist in overloading her with FOOLISH, FANATICAL FLUBDUBBERY in the form of INTOLERANT LEGISLATION, TYRANNICAL "BONE DRY" REGULATIONS and "DEATH FOR A PINT" ENFORCEMENT TACTICS.

Why send a Good Ship to CERTAIN DOOM?

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

BILL'S in The Dog House again.

And he's hornswaggled if he knows what it's about.

Everything seemed going finely. As far as he knew the Missus was as happy as a clam at high tide—

Then all of a sudden, for nothing at all as far as he could see, she threw a fit.

Got all smoked up, raved, cried, threatened to go home to her mother, tore around the house, told him what a low brute he was—

And now Bill's in the Dog House and she's hardly spoken to him for a week.

And Bill, to save his neck couldn't tell you what it's all about.

Somebody ought to write about The Dog House—tell Bill and about a million other bewildered husbands their why and wherefore. For The Dog House is our most prevalent and pestiferous American institution. Congresses may come and Congresses may go—Committees may meet and Committees may disband—but The Dog House goes on forever. It's time something threw the spotlight upon it.

Why is The Dog House?

Is it because husbands do wives dirt?

It is not, generally speaking.

Nine times out of ten, it is because wives are bored and want attention and excitement.

This theory that American women are weak, wan, wistful whatnots is all wet. They are animated power plants, plumb full of ohms, wats and volts, and yearning for a chance to shoot the works.

Prior to marriage they have plenty of chance, for the unmarried American girl gets more opportunity and encouragement to strut her stuff than any other female on earth. But with matrimony the applause falls off. Suddenly they are confined to a dull round of domestic duties which gives them no scope for their histrionic talents. They can't even beat the rug, wallop the wash board, mangle the clothes or mash the potatoes, for it's all done for them by machinery or the delicatessen store.

So there they are—spoiling for action—with not a row in sight.

Then along comes John Henry, walking into the jaws of death as it were, and naturally they grab him, as a drowning man grabs a straw, and work off their excess energy. Inside of 60 seconds thay have the poor sap thinking that he has committed all the baser crimes, including mayhem, murder and misuse of mails. Then, after a grand finale of Grade A hysterics, they heave him into The Dog House and for the next day or week treat him like the Village Villain.

Whereupon John Henry concludes that women are mysterious creatures, of sensitive and complicated natures, capable of intense and unusual suffering and quite beyond a mere male's comprehension. Which is the oldest and silliest form of piffle persisting in the human imagination.

There's nothing mysterious about women. They are merely people like all other primates. And they are afflicted with all the ordinary brands of human cussedness and nothing else. Their outbursts are not occasioned by some great spiritual crisis. They simply want a little excitement and a lot of audience.

If John Henry, knowing this, would beat them to it and hang them a good shiner, they'd probably burst into big wet sobs of gratitude and speedily resume their role of God's gift to mankind. But unfortunately blacking the wife's eye has become a conspicuous breach of etiquette. So the lady has to stage her own fracas. Hence, The Dog House.

So hereafter, Brother, if you find yourself out in the cold, gray dawn chewing bones with Fido, that's why.

WHAT MAKES TIDES?

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Do you, too, believe that the tides on our globe are caused by attraction on the part of the moon? If so, how can one prove it? It has always been my contention that this theory belongs in the same category with the ancient belief of the earth being flat. Is it not more reasonable to assume that the tides are caused by a certain oscillating motion of the earth, not generally known until recently?—C. B., Syracuse, N. Y."

WHEN science was in its babyhood people in general knew no trustworthy authority, based on expert investigation and profound especial study, to which they could turn for information and guidance regarding the causes of the great phenomena of nature. Naturally each person with an inquiring mind used his own faculties as best he could and arrived at such conclusions as seemed to him in closest accord with what he saw around him. Not being familiar with the many deceptions to which one is subjected in relying on the senses, and on hasty and superficial, or too narrowly local, observations, he often drew wrong inferences which would have been avoided if he had had the advantage of more exact knowledge and of very much wider experiences of the phenomena observed.

But now that science has . . . not only attained an approach to maturity, but has had its results and principles widely broadcasted, such errors have become very much rare. Nevertheless, as shown by the occasioned reappearance of the "flat-earth" belief to which you refer, there are still a considerable number of people who continue to make the old mistakes, either through ignorance of what science has proved, or as appears in a few cases, because they entertain the astonishing belief that such men as Newton and Galileo, with an unbroken line of their successors whom the world has honored, were either stupid, careless dolts, or else false pretenders and conscious misleaders of their fellow men

This matter of the tides, involving certain principles of physical action that are not apparent to the uninitiated, or that may even seem to those ignorant of such principles to be actually contrary to experience, is a frequent source of puzzlement to persons who will not take the trouble to thoroughly inform themselves concerning the ascertained facts and the demonstrated laws of nature from which those facts arise.

You ask for a proof that the moon by its attraction causes tides in the oceans of the earth. The substance of the proof is found in the universally observed fact that the tidal wave "follows the moon." The prediction of tides has become a branch of official information, worked out by experts under the direction of the great government organizations of the civilized world, and every tide-table, the accepted accuracy of which is demonstrated every time a big ocean liner puts to sea or arrives at a harbor, is based on the movements of the moon.

But, while the foundation of such predictions is simple enough, there are various elements of irregularity arising from such things as the outlines of the shores and continents, varying depths of water, width and form of inlets and bays, etc., which make the calculations very complicated without throwing the slightest doubts upon the general cause of the tides, although they exhibit in detail so many differing aspects.

You are no doubt aware that the sun, as well as the moon, is concerned in the production of tides; but because of its great relative distance, the sun's tidal effect is much less than that of the moon, so that the motions of the latter principally govern the variations of the tides

Tales That Are Told

Warning Them!

FARMER GILES found himself in a serious predicament. The march of modern progress had brought the railway perilously near his fields, and his chickens were constantly straying on the lines and being killed.

At last he thought of a plan. He paid a visit to the railway station, and shortly returned with a large white card. This he nailed to the chicken house.

"What's yon for, master?" asked a farm hand, pointing to the card.

"Whoi, Garge"—and Giles tapped his hand with his stick impressively—"that's our local time-table, and if the little things get run over now it'll be their own fault!"

A Fortune in Sight

AMOS SKINNER had never done any real work; instead, he had tried to invent something that would bring him a fortune.

Meeting an old friend, he rushed up to him, greatly excited.

"I've got it at last!" he shrieked. "Made me fortune, sure as eggs!"

"What is it this time?" he asked his friend.

"Just a little device, said Skinner, "but it will bring in millions. Every church in the country'll buy one. You see, it's a collecting box with different slots for different coins. All silver money falls on velvet, while coppers drop on a big bell!"

Putting It Bluntly

A WEALTHY tradesman had a daughter who was on the point of celebrating her twenty-first birthday. He and his wife, therefore, decided to give her a big coming-out party. The mother had the invitations printed, "Your presence is requested, etc . . ."

The father, who had a strain of Scottish blood in him, altered them before they were sent out so that they read, "Your presents are requested. . ."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THE old-time clothier in Kansas City happened to get a pretty dressy guy for a customer the other day. This here boy wasn't easy to suit. But the clothier tried all his old tricks on him. He got him into a suit and stood him up before the looking glass. "Aha, my boy," he says, "it fits you like the paper on the wall!"

"Just exactly," says the customer. "But have you got anything in the shop that might fit me like a suit of clothes?"

Who Buys a Tree

WHO buys a tree buys more
Than any coin can pay,
A tree beside his door
To sing to him all day,
To whisper through the night
When birds are fast asleep
And stars with tender light
Their timeless vigil keep.

Who buys a tree buys things
He cannot that day know;
He buys the stir of wings,
Bird calls at dawning, low
And sweet with all content
When they on waking see
Morn's mixing colors blent
In gorgeous pageantry.

Who buys a tree will learn
New pleasures through the years,
As fresh young leaves return
With April's smiles and tears;
New joys in earth and sky
Where widespread branches bend.
He finds as seasons fly
He gained, also, a friend!

Progress Begs to Report

By Herbert Kaufman

THERE'S enough substance in a year's news to fill a fresh volume of the Britannica per annum.

Miracle-mongering proceeds at such a dizzy pace that the best-informed brain in town can't hope to keep its reference cells to date.

Half of us aren't yet aware that carbaloy cuts through materials which hitherto dulled the hardest tool steel, and saves incalculable expense for a hundred departments of manufacture.

Radio's latest contributions are messages from the North Pole to the South Pole, and an airplane siren which automatically turns on landing field lights.

Dr. Jacques Risler, experimenting at Paris, produces a vacuum tube which becomes red hot on contact with wireless waves and promises central generating stations, from which cities may some day be heated without the use of fuels, radiators or furnaces.

Map-makers and yardsticks to the contrary, the distance from New York to Nome is forty-five hours. And "when mightier motors are designed," planes will cover the distance between dawn and dusk.

Surgery eliminates one more era of guesswork by devising a tiny electric-lighted camera which the patient swallows, and enables the diagnostician to study stomach derangement as though through a windowpane.

A magnetic metal, forty-fold as powerful as any ore Nature can furnish, makes its bow and invites the investigation of dynamics.

Trachoma, the favorite agent of blindness and a world-wide devastator of sight, now, after centuries of defiance, yields to preventive serum. Noghuchi isolates its germs, endows posterity with a corrective formula, then moves to Africa to attack the tsetse fly, and perishes from its bite.

Civilization owes that man eternal memory. Incidentally, don't forget to credit his many benefactions to the Rockefeller Institute, from whose laboratories issue whispers of a strange, fatty acid, supposedly the source of tuberculosis and a possible cure for the very infection it creates. Again, a remedy in the hair of the biting dog.

The King of England, according to cables, survives and rules by courtesy of "avertin," a novelty in anesthetics, which neither permits recollection of clinic preliminaries nor operation shock.

The pharmacopoeia has recently been enriched with a glucose treatment for heart disease.

An ethyl-alcohol substitute for chloroform and ether appears in Mexico. Dr. Miguel Garcia whereby qualifies for membership in the Abou-ben-Adhem Club, and meanwhile demonstrates that all the folk below the Rio Grande aren't specializing in personal aggrandizement and revolution.

The General Electric Company exhibits a toy locomotive which takes orders from the human voice, indicating that dispatchers will soon be handling traffic with kind words. And Canadian Railways successfully install a telephone system to maintain continuous communication with trains.

Three dimensional photography joins the list of possibilities by adding the ultra-violet rays to its equipment. Meaning that stereoscopic motion pictures are about to grace the screen.

Also, Mr. Harry Sinclair has joined the Washington jail colony, thus confounding the theory that jails aren't built for multi-millionaires.

And General Juan Vincente Gomez, unanimously elected President of Venezuela, declines to accept the honor and the office on the plea that there's better executive timber in his country.

Will wonders never cease?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOUR children disappoint you—do not meet expectations.

You tell them what you want them to do and they either forget your instructions or fail to carry them out, wilfully.

You become discouraged and feel that no other parents have so much worry as you from this sort of thing.

But you don't know the tribulations of other parents with their children.

Most of them have as trying times as you.

Practically all parents have periods when they feel like giving up the struggle to make dependable men and women out of their children.

Undoubtedly you were just as much of a care to your parents.

They were in despair many a time and your mother cried about some things you did or did not do just as some mothers are doing today.

You feel that you have turned out pretty well.

You know you might have been worse if it had not been for the constant care of your parents.

The chances are that your children will come out as well or better if you don't weaken.

You should expect that you will have many discouraging experiences with your children.

It is up to you to keep on trying to improve them.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 11.—Among the enduring mysteries of Broadway are those vibrant young girls who are constant companions of the street's shady characters—the race track touts, gigolos, small fry friskers and sundry others catalogued as living by what passes for wits.

These are not gum-chewing ladies with hash house manners and much flip talk but maidens with a patina of culture beyond the ordinary. They are well dressed, soft spoken and often come from excellent families yet are thrilled by such contacts with the underworld.

A half dozen turned out by fashionable finishing schools and who would be welcomed in a higher stratum are consorting nightly in such a fashion. They dine in the clatter of the chop houses and move on to the night clubs to hear cracked warblers sing: "I can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby."

Several high salaried theatrical stars have become the wives of such wastrels and remained loyal even to waiting for them to make their exit through prison gates. Somehow they seen happy in sacrificing fame, fortune and family in a self-imposed martyrdom.

It is interesting to watch many illmated couples from the sidelines. The girls do all the talking, the men indulging only monosyllable grunts. Including, quite naturally, that rising and sarcastic "Yeah?" so typical of the Broadway cynicism.

Anger with its flood of unprintable epithets is frequent. Now and then there is the resounding smack of a face slap. The ladies love their gentleman rough and take it on the chin without protest. The liaison last precisely as long as the lady's bank roll.

One experience is rarely sufficient. There is a stark ferocity about their longing for more punishment. Cast off, they have their brief periods of retirement, but they soon show up again with another hard-boiled boy who likes his money easy.

A lady on Park avenue walks every evening with six Scottish terriers on a leash—ankle deep in bow-wows, as it were. And a benign gentleman on upper Madison this morning had the seat of his pantaloons unthreaded by three police dogs that espied a cat and dragged him an entire block, sitting down.

* * *

Six years ago a gentleman was refused permission to buy an apartment in an exclusive co-operative apartment building. Tenants decided the matter by a secret vote. Today on one side of the building is a big garage and on the other an eat-and-run cafeteria. The gentleman is avenged!

* * *

And another gentleman stuffed with credulity boasted of his admittance into an exclusive club. "Anyone who couldn't make that club," sneered a sneerer, "would be blackballed out of the Grand Central Station."

* * *

Pajamas are supplanting tea gowns and negligees at tea parties and cocktail soirees of an informal nature. Aside from pantaloons, they have sleeveless blouses and three-quarter length coats. They are shown in designs from $100 to one fur-trimmed model at $600.

The same fashion spy tells of a lady's hat for $500. It is a severly plain cloche but the jeweled ornament whoops the price.

My aunt, who was a milliner, set our town agog with a "pattern hat" from Cincinnati priced at $7.50. It was shot with the gaudy colors of the aurora borealis—a sort of circus parade gone wrong. People drove in all the way from Greasy Ridge to see it. It lingered in the show window many weeks and was finally sold to a show boat lady for $6.75.

Famous Bible Passages

Vanity of Life

(Psalm 39)

I SAID, I will take heed to my ways, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked is before me.

I was dumb with silence, I held my peace, even from good; and my sorrow was stirred.

My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned: then spake I with my tongue.

Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am.

Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.

Surely every man walketh in a vain shew, surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.

And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee.

Deliver me from all my transgressions: make me not the reproach of the foolish.

I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; because thou didst it.

Remove thy stroke away from me: I am consumed by the blow of thine hand.

When thou with rebukes dost correct man for iniquity, thou makest his beauty to consume away like a moth: surely every man is vanity. Selah.

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.

O spare me, that I may recover strength, before I go hence and be no more.
